

PAY AT ONCE.
If this is marked with a blue pencil it shows that your subscription is due (or will be at the end of this month) and must be paid at once or your Avalanche will be stopped.

Crawford

Avalanche

JUSTICE AND RIGHT

VOLUME XLIV

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, JUNE 29, 1922

NUMBER 26

GRAYLING MEETS FIRST DEFEAT

BIG CROWD OF ROOTERS 75 STRONG ACCOMPANIED TEAM.

Grayling fans who accompanied the city base ball team to Cheboygan last Sunday had to watch the players go down to defeat in one of the raggedest games they have played this season. It was their first defeat and also the first break in nineteen games, including ten games last season and the nine games they won this season. The score was 5 and 2 but it cannot be said that the better team won, as the five scores made by Cheboygan were wholly made on errors. Bad luck was surely with Grayling that day. "Babe" Laurant for the home team pitched good ball, but the support his team mates handed him was unequalled. He was in good form and deserved the fine support he has been given in previous games this year. He allowed but 8 hits, while Berkey for Cheboygan allowed 11. McPhoe was the big noise of the day for the home team, getting three hits and getting everything that came his way in right field. This was his first game with the big team, having previously played with the Grayling High School nine.

The score by innings was:
Grayling—0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 2-11 5
Cheboygan—0 0 0 2 3 0 0 x 5-6-1
The Cheboygan Daily said that Grayling people came up with their money and found a lot of takers in Cheboygan, but the local fans report that they found scarcely anyone that would be a taker.

WHY NOT BUY TIRES, TUBES AND SUPPLIES IN GRAYLING?

Mr. O. P. Schumann:
Dear Sir: I read the article on the front page of the Avalanche by the Board of Trade last week, and consider same very good. I would like to add a few more remarks.

Garages and tire repair shops have installed expensive machinery for mounting, and inflating tires for the convenience and benefit of their customers, and yet, there are some prominent business men in this town that send their money to Chicago mail-order houses for their tires, tubes and other supplies. They seem to think that because we give free air for their cheap mail order tires, that we can also pay our taxes, grocery bills, etc., with the same thing.

If we are going to reform, why not start with some of the members of the Board of Trade.

It does not set well to tell the other fellow what to do if we don't live up to what we preach.

Of course in the past, garages and tire repair shops were considered more or less of a robber institution. Conditions are changing, only the good ones, with honest prices, good supplies, and fair treatment will survive.

So why not every line of business, all together, boost for one and one for all.

Hans R. Nelson.

NOTICE.

To my customers for whom I bought goods at the furniture market. Come in and I will inform you as to when you may expect your goods.

G. A. Hilton.

U. S. INTERVENES IN COAL STRIKE

PRESIDENT DETERMINED TO TAKE DRASTIC ACTION TO BRING SETTLEMENT.

FEDERAL OPERATION POSSIBLE

Unless Operators and Strikers Come to Terms, Production of Coal by U. S. May Be Tried.

Washington—That President Harding is determined to take aggressive action to end the coal strike and bring about the resumption of full production of fuel, was disclosed Monday night following a conference he had with Secretary of Labor Davis and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Mr. Harding's immediate endeavor is being directed toward bringing the miners and the operators into conference on a settlement of the wage dispute. He sounded Lewis on the acceptance of a compromise plan of negotiation which the miners' leader did not accept, but which the president asked Secretary of Commerce Hoover to put up to the operators at once.

The president indicated that if he should fail to bring the operators and miners into conference within a reasonable time, he will feel compelled to adopt more drastic measures to protect the people from the danger of a coal famine next winter.

One plan under consideration is to ask congress for legislation providing for compulsory arbitration of the differences between operators and miners. It is suggested that the arbitral tribunal might take the form of the railway labor board. Lewis said the miners would oppose and resist any such measure.

As a last resort, the administration is prepared to consider government operation of the mines at least to the extent of opening them to all miners who desire to work and providing armed forces for their protection.

BRITAIN WARNS IRISH LEADERS

Government Will Intervene Unless New Regime Masters Situation.

London—Storn threats to the Irish free state that the British government is preparing to intervene in Ireland with the employment of military measures, unless the newly elected Dublin government is able to master the situation, were made by Winston Churchill in the house of commons Monday afternoon in enunciating the committee policy which Downing street has adopted.

Mr. Churchill also warned the Unionist government that attacks, persecution and reprisals on the Catholics of Ulster must cease, and the loyalists must sincerely attempt to heal the wounds with their southern neighbors as with their British troops reinforcing them, they no longer need fear an invasion or an attack.

See the latest line of wedding invitations and announcements, at the Avalanche office.

WELCOME TO OUR CITY

TODAY, the city of Grayling is enjoying as its guests, delegates from 14 counties of Northern Michigan. About 200 delegates in all, representing that honored order the Womans Benefit Association of the Macabees.

This afternoon will be devoted to a business meeting and ritualistic work, which will be held in the School gymnasium. At about 4:30 p. m. the guests will be taken for rides about our city by members of the Board of Trade. This will conclude with a dinner at the Collen Pavilion at Lake Margrethe.

In the evening there will be given a public program in the school auditorium, where there will be a few brief addresses, flag service, and fancy drills, presented by members of some of the lodges in the northern district.

Grayling is proud to be the host today of such a fine body of ladies as represent the Womans Benefit Association of Northern Michigan, and extends to each and every one a most cordial welcome. May they have the best time ever, and when they return to their homes fond memories linger long in their minds of the good time had in Grayling.

YOU ARE WELCOME.

For a Better Town. Conducted by Grayling Board of Trade.

WE HAVE STRUCK THE KEY NOTE TO THE TUNE OF "CO-OPERATION."

Our notes of last week produced results. Anyone who attended the last business meeting will vouch for it. Fifty-three of our good citizens and business men turned out to attend the meeting Monday. We believe that meeting was one of the best of its kind ever held in Grayling. The spirit that prevailed indicates that our business men will be boosters. Every man left the meeting with a better feeling, and we believe a more determined effort at co-operation between our business men will be the result. It was predicted that this meeting would be a failure, but that wise guy was not present at the meeting. Old sores were opened, cleaned out and there isn't a question of doubt that they are going to be healed up in fine shape. Some of our business men were out of town but others have shown an indifferent attitude. These men must line themselves up with the boosters who were present at the last meeting and get busy or they are going to be left in the rear of a good bunch of men who have started a push toward the front. There are about a hundred and ten business and professional men in town and they must all get together and boost. Those who failed to attend will have to get in line.

We listened to some good talks by our real boosters, also those who are going to be real boosters. We are going to develop into a community of go-getters and there is no question about that as long as the spirit which was shown at the meeting prevails. Mr. M. Hanson started the speech making with an outline of what some of our objects are. He was followed in turn by Messrs. Harry Simpson, Hans Peterson, R. D. Cornine, Frank Tetu, J. H. Wingard, R. D. Bailey, James McDonald, C. A. Canfield, C. M. Morfit, F. R. Welsh, T. P. Peterson, J. C. Yahr, Ben Shore, Geo. Burke, N. Schjotz and others. Each one spoke on the subject of his own ideas and they were all good. Those who did not attend failed to hear some real speeches for the good of our community.

We are not going to stop now. The foundation has been started and we are going to keep building up, and from now on every business and professional man must be a booster and help build. Another meeting has been called for July 10th, same hour, same place, and those present at the last meeting have agreed to be in attendance. Those who were not at the last meeting, each man knows of his own failure, will be required at this next meeting. Last week we threatened to publish the names of those who did not attend but we are not going to do that yet. We are going to give them another chance to square themselves as we feel that the spirit will be contagious and they will attend our next meeting. The following business and professional men did attend:

George Burke.	Thos. Cassidy.
A. J. Joseph.	N. Schjotz.
Emil Kraus.	Harry Simpson.
H. F. Peterson.	Hans Peterson.
E. J. Olson.	C. W. Olsen.
A. Trudeau, Sr.	H. Fitch.
George Olson.	Arnold Burrows.
O. P. Schumann.	J. H. Wingard.
M. Hanson.	J. W. Letzkus.
M. Atkinson.	F. R. Welsh.
C. M. Morfit.	Ben Shore.
C. W. Peterson.	Dr. D. M. Howell.
Carl Sorenson.	T. P. Peterson.
M. Landberg.	M. R. Crowell.
M. A. Bates.	B. A. Cooley.
H. Parker.	Benton Jorgenson.
R. D. Connine.	C. A. Canfield.
Thos. Trudo.	Emil Giegling.
R. D. Bailey.	Herfur Sorenson.
Alfred Hanson.	R. H. Gillett.
Hans Christenson.	Ben Landberg.
Bert Mitchell.	James McDonald.
J. C. Yahr.	Chas. Tromble.
Rev. Fr. Bosler.	Tracy Nelson.
Miller Rose.	Frank Tetu.

Cast your eyes over this list and you will find the boosters. These are the men who signified by their attendance that they are not dead ones. They have made known that they are willing to put their shoulder to the wheel and help boost our town. They are the business men who are entitled to the good will and patronage of our citizens at large. Their help in boosting Grayling will be a benefit to all.

Our business men are going to reach out and help the farmers of this county. A boost for the farmer is a boost for us all. Help them dispose of their products. Give him a market at home and he will come to Grayling instead of going in the opposite direction. We have a lot of good farmers in our county, they are all good people, and they need our help and we need the things they produce. Help the farmer to prosper and we will have prosperity in return. We are going to provide the farmer with a place to stable his teams, have his blacksmithing done and also a place where he can procure the necessary parts for his implements and where he can be supplied with his needs to work his farm. We have been slow in doing things for the farmer, but they are going to be pushed from now on. Our farmers are going to find a warmer welcome hereafter. At our last meeting a committee of three were appointed with instructions to push the building of a barn and blacksmith shop.

Let's go. Not only strike while the iron is hot, but keep the iron hot by striking.
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

HOLGER F. PETERSON, President.

BOUND OVER TO CIRCUIT COURT

WILLIAM MOSHIER UNDER ARREST FOR SELLING MOON-SHINE.

The examination of William Moshier, charged with selling "Moonshine" whiskey, held Wednesday before Justice Kraus, attracted quite a crowd and called out a large list of witnesses.

The principal witness was Robert Ziebell who stated under oath that Mr. Moshier had sold him whiskey upon several occasions.

Frank Kio, another witness, also swore that he purchased moonshine from Mr. Moshier. Mrs. Ziebell and daughter Miss Matilda, stated on the stand that they frequently saw persons entering the Moshier home and presumed they were there to purchase liquor. Similar statements were made by Mrs. Esbern Olson, Mrs. Philip Moran, Mrs. D. M. Howell and others, all of whom reside in the vicinity of the Moshier home.

The People were represented in the case by Prosecuting Attorney Fitch, as usual, and the defendant by Attorney Guy of Cheboygan. The latter is exceptionally clever and does not intend to overlook any loop holes whereby he may get his client out of trouble, and to the laymen in the art of criminal defense, might quite convince them that the People had no case at all.

Mr. Moshier was arrested last week Thursday and had been in jail up to Wednesday in default of $2000 bail. He was bound over to the circuit court for trial and released on $500 bail. His case will probably not be heard until the October term of court as it is customary not to draw a jury for the July term.

ACCUSED WIFE NURSES HUSBAND

Mr. and Mrs. Hirsch Deny That Shooting Followed Quarrel.

Freemont, N. Y.—The mysterious shooting of Oscar A. Hirsch, wealthy electrical contractor on the lawn of Reine Davies, former movie actress, late last Saturday night, took another turn June 28 when Mrs. Hazel Hirsch released on bail after having been accused of shooting her husband, took him home from the Minnesota hospital to nurse him back to health.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hirsch denied she had pulled the trigger in a scuffle which had followed their departure from a party given by Miss Davies, the occasion being the return of a sister, Marion Davies, famous movie star, from Europe.

STROKE FATAL TO MRS. SMALL

Excitement at Illinois Governor's Trial Too Much for Wife.

Kankakee, Ill.—Mrs. Len Small, wife of Governor Small, of Illinois, died about 9 o'clock Monday morning. Mrs. Small was stricken with apoplexy June 24 during the excitement incident to the celebration of friends and fellow townsmen of the governor as a result of his acquittal that afternoon after his trial at Waukegan, Ill.

With her at the time of her death was the governor and their three children.

Farm Bureau Notes

R. D. BAILEY
County Agricultural Agent

Hurrah! Two More.

Last Saturday I had the pleasure of helping unload two more registered purebred Holstein heifer calves, consigned to Andrew Mortenson of Beaver Creek Township. They are fine looking animals and show dairy type. Almost before he knows it, Mr. Mortenson will have two good purebred cows and their purebred calves. Readers of the AVALANCHE will remember that Mr. Mortenson shipped in a registered purebred bull calf this spring.

Four in Sixteen Days.

Readers of the AVALANCHE may remember that we shipped in two mature registered purebred Holstein bulls June 9. So that makes four purebreds in sixteen days—one every four days. Not so bad!

Not The Last.

The end is not yet. Other farmers are considering the purchase of purebred heifer calves or bred heifers. We can place a half-dozen more bulls here as soon as we can find the bulls.

Heifers—The Right Thing.

Those who purchase registered purebred heifers cut across lots and save lots of time. Four heifers have been so brought in, one by Herman Wendt, who led off and started the ball rolling; next, by Charles Hazard; next, by Andrew Mortenson who has just brought in two.

How True It Is.

Herman Wendt sends us the following clipping from the Hustein-Friesian World, which exactly speaks my sentiments:

"The importance of making a start with good purebreds is well illustrated on the farm of Samuel Andrist of Mantorville, Minnesota, where the present herd of 37 head is all descended from one good purebred female purchased twenty-two years ago."

Cushman Clothide, the foundation cow of the Andrist herd, was not only an excellent producer but a reproducer as well, dropping five purebred heifer calves in the herd, all of which proved exceptional individuals. In the past fifteen years over $10,000 worth of surplus stock has been sold from the herd despite the fact that no additional stock has been introduced into the herd since its founding other than the good purebred bulls which have always stood at the head of the herd. The herd today is valued conservatively at over $10,000."

Nice Thing.

What a nice thing it would be for a father to buy his boy a purebred heifer calf. The farm would not miss the feed. The calf would become a cow almost before the family would realize it. The boy would take pride in the calf and new interest in the farm. The better stock would do the farm good. The sales of surplus would make a fund to pay for the boy's Agricultural College course, or Winter Short Courses at the Agricultural College.

Keeping of fine, purebred stock would develop finer traits of the boy's nature.

What father here will do it? I will gladly help find the suitable purebred heifer calf.

The successful future of this country must be founded on dairying and

(Continued on last page.)

MEN WANTED

Du Pont Co.
Grayling, Mich.

SEE FILMS ABOUT DENMARK

TO BE SHOWN IN GRAYLING JULY 4th, 3:00 P. M.

Announcement is hereby made that five reels of pictures will be received picturing scenes and events of Denmark. Two of these reels will represent the visit of the Danish King to Greenland. The descriptions in the pictures will be in English so that all may understand them without an interpreter.

Everybody invited to see them. Usual prices of admission. At Grayling Opera House.

BUYING HUCKLEBERRIES.

Furnishing crates and boxes, have a truck and touring car. Will take out pickers and bring them back. I have rooms at the back part of the Russell Hotel Building. Will take in berries there or at the N. Schjotz store, whenever you have any for sale. E. A. Reedy, Grayling, Mich. 6-22-2.

At Last!

A Face Powder that really stays on.

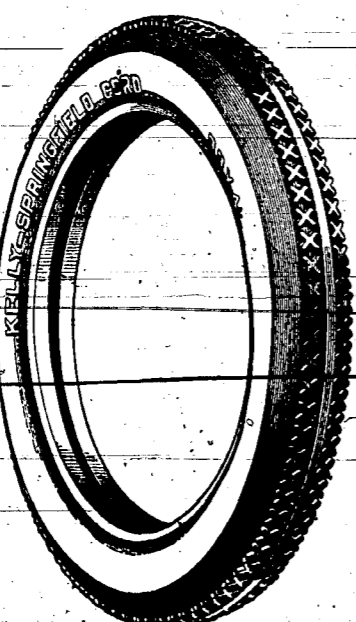

NYLOTIS Face Powder DeLuxe spreads evenly on the face and possesses those adhering qualities so much desired in a face powder. It is pleasantly perfumed. Fresh White Brunette.

CENTRAL DRUG STORE

About the time an ordinary tire wears out Kelly Cords are just beginning to get their second wind—and all the time you have a comfort of body and peace of mind which the Kant-Slip tread can give.

It costs no more to buy a Kelly

A. PETERSON & SON Grayling, Michigan.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

And remember—the lowest first cost, the lowest upkeep and the highest resale value of any motor car ever built.

$319
F. O. B. DETROIT.

Thousands of salesmen now using Ford Runabouts have increased their earning capacity up to 35%—and more. A point well worth your serious consideration. The entire expense—including operation and maintenance rarely exceeds railroad fares. Let us prove how a Ford Runabout will help you earn more money. Terms if desired.

Ford Sales and Service
GEORGE BURKE, Grayling, Mich.

Had Your Iron Today?

5¢

Get Some—energy and iron

NEVER mind the weather—get some new vitality—speed up any way. Don't be a lagger. Vital men resist the heat. Let little raisins help. 75 per cent pure fruit sugar. 145 calories of energizing nutriment in every package—practically predigested so it gets to work almost immediately.

No tax on digestion so it doesn't heat the blood. Fatigue resisting food-iron also! All natural and good.

Try it when you're slipping—when you yawn at 3 P.M. Stiffens up your backbone and makes thoughts flow again.

Two packages and a glass of milk form greatest mid-day lunch you've ever tried.

Little Sun-Maids

Between-Meal Raisins

5c Everywhere

—in Little Red Packages

10c Makes Old Waists Like New

Putnam Fadeless Dyes—dyes or tints as you wish

Something every man will appreciate. Putnam's Fadeless Dyes. Dyes or tints as you wish. Putnam's Fadeless Dyes. Dyes or tints as you wish. Putnam's Fadeless Dyes. Dyes or tints as you wish.

BRICKLAYERS

WANTED

Steady Work for Eight Months
$1.12½ Per Hour
Gwen-Ames-Kimball Co.
Michigan Trust Building
Grand Rapids, Michigan

It Would Be But a Pittance.
"I used to think I could be perfectly happy," she said, "if my husband had a million."
"Wouldn't you be satisfied with that much now?" her friend asked.
"Goodness, no! Nearly every man in my neighborhood was a millionaire."

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION
BELLANS FOR INDIGESTION
6 BELLANS Hot Water Sure Relief
25¢ and 75¢ Packages, Everywhere

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin.
On rising and retiring gently scrub the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful what Cuticura will do for poor complexion, dandruff, itching and red rough hands.—Advertisement.

Damages for Grief.
Measuring human emotions in dollars and cents is the newest problem confronting French juries as a result of a decision of the Paris courts of appeal. According to revolutionary French procedure in damage cases. Hitherto, for example, in the case of a person killed in an accident, the survivor was awarded damages only upon the basis of actual material loss, such as the depreciation of the family income, but henceforward juries will be asked to grant a supplemental allowance covering grief and physical wear and tear.

REST YOUR TIRED FEET
Allen's Foot-Powder, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes keeps the pain of corns and bunions, and gives quick relief to aching, swollen, tired feet. It keeps them cool and comfortable. Shave and stockings wear twice as long when you wear it. —Advertisement.

Pattern for Husbands.
"Young women nowadays," remarks an anthropologist in the employ of the government, "take too light a view of marriage. While in the West last summer I was induced to lecture to a summer school. During the course of this lecture I changed to remark:

"The ostrich does very little in the other hand, it glazes everything."
"Whereupon a girl on the front bench exclaimed: 'What a nice husband neighbor! Give! What an ideal husband an ostrich must make!'"

Important to Mothers
Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the

A Youthful Logician.
Margaret is only seven years old, but sometimes quite naughty. On one of these occasions her mother, trying to be particularly impressive, said: "Don't you know that if you keep on doing so many naughty things you, children will be naughty, too?" Margaret dimpled, and cried triumphantly: "Oh, mother, now you have given yourself away!" —Harper's Magazine.

Had Martha B. a.
Capt. Ed Thomas of Terre Haute was drilling his prize K. of P. drill team in the open the other evening when several visitors arrived and watched the proceedings. Among them were an old countryman and his wife. As the captain shouted "Left face—right face—three steps forward, march—backward, march," etc., the farmer watched him in amazement. Finally he turned to his wife: "There's a fellow, Martha," he said, "who can beat you changing your mind." —Indianapolis News.

Complete Removal.
Fat Mother-in-Law—Look, James, there, here at last I've found something to remove my flesh. It's guaranteed to take off 30 pounds a month. That makes it just right for one who weighs 180 pounds like I do. —Advertisement.

"LAND OF THE DRUM."

SYNOPSIS.—Wealthy and highly placed in the Chicago business world, Benjamin Corvet is something of a recluse and a mystery to his associates. After a stormy interview with his partner, Henry Spearman, Corvet seeks Constance Sherrill, daughter of his other business partner, Lawrence Sherrill, and secures from her a promise not to marry Spearman until he returns. He then disappears. Sherrill learns Corvet has written to a certain Alan Conrad, in Blue Rapids, Kansas, and exhibited strange agitation over the matter. Alan arrives in Chicago. From a statement of Sherrill, Spearman probable Conrad is Corvet's illegitimate son. Corvet has deeded his house and its contents to Alan, who takes possession. That night Alan discovers a man ransacking Corvet's apartments. The intruder thinks Alan a ghost and runs. Spearman, next day Alan learns from Sherrill that Corvet has deeded his entire property to him, introduced to Spearman, and Alan is astonished at the discovery that he is the man whom he had fought in his house the night before. Spearman laughs at and derides him. Spearman possesses Constance's mind against Alan. Somebody tries to kill Alan in the night. Corvet's Indian servant, Wassaquam, tells Alan he believes his employer is dead. He also tells him the legend of the Indian drum, which according to his superstition beats once for every life lost on the Great Lakes. Twenty years before, the great freighter Milwaukee had gone down with twenty-five on board, but the drum had sounded for only twenty-four, leaving the inference that one person had been saved. Luke, who has long been blackmailing Corvet, appears, talks mysteriously and dies.

CHAPTER X—Continued.

But Luke had said nothing about Spearman. It had been Corvet and Corvet alone, of whom Luke had spoken. It was Corvet whom he had accused; it was Corvet who had given him money. Was it conceivable, then, that there had been two such events in Corvet's life? That one of these events concerned the Milwaukee and Spearman and some "one" who "with a bullet hole above the eye"—who had "got" Corvet; and that the other event had concerned Luke and something else? It was not conceivable, Alan was sure; it was all one thing. If Corvet had to do with the Milwaukee, then Luke had had to do with it too. And Spearman? But if Spearman had been involved in that guilty thing, had not Luke known it? Then why had not Luke mentioned Spearman? Involved? Had it been, perhaps, only evidence of knowledge of what Corvet had done that Spearman had tried to discover and destroy?

Alan went to the door and opened it, as he heard Spearman upon the steps again. Spearman waited until the door had been reclosed behind him. "Well, Conrad, what was the idea of bringing Miss Sherrill into this?" "I didn't bring her in; I tried the best I could to keep her out."

"Out of what—exactly?" "You know better than I do. You know exactly what it is. You know that man, Spearman; you know what he came here for. I don't mean money; I mean you know why he came here for money, and why he got it. I tried, as well as I could, to make him tell me; but he wouldn't do it. There's disgrace of some sort here, of course, disgrace that involves my father and, I think, you too. If you're not guilty with my father, you help me now. If you are guilty, then at least your refusal to help will let me know that."

"I don't know what you're talking about. I told you this morning that I been a wheelman on the Corvet; I don't know more about him than that; I don't even know that certainly. Of course, I knew Ben Corvet was paying blackmail; I've known for years that he was giving up money to some one. I don't know who he paid it to; or for what."

The strain of the last few hours was telling upon Alan; his skin flushed hot and cold by turns. He paced up and down while he controlled himself. "That's not enough, Spearman," he said finally. "I—I've felt you, somehow, underneath all these things. The first time I saw you, you were in this house doing something you ought not to have been doing; you fought me then; you would have killed me rather than not get away. Two weeks ago, some one attacked me on the street—for robbery, they said; but I know it wasn't robbery."

"You're not so crazy as to be trying to involve me in that." There came a sound to them from the hall, a sound unmistakably denoting some presence. Spearman jerked suddenly up; Alan, going to the door and looking into the hall, saw Wassaquam. The Indian evidently had returned to the house some time before; he had been bringing to Alan now the accounts which he had settled. He seemed to have been standing in the hall for some time, listening; but he came in now, looking inquiringly from one to the other of them. "Not friends?" he inquired. "You and Henry?" Alan's passion broke out suddenly. "We're anything but that, Judah. I found him, the first night I got here and while we were away, going through my father's things. I fought with him, and he ran away. He was the one that broke into my father's desks; maybe you'll believe that, even if no one else will."

ers under the bookshelves—the drawer, Alan recalled, which he himself had been examining when he had found Wassaquam watching him. He drew out the drawer and dumped its contents out upon the floor; he turned the bottom out of it. Beneath the bottom which he had removed appeared now another bottom and a few sheets of paper scrawled in an uneven hand and with different colored inks. At sight of them, Spearman, who had followed them into the room, uttered an oath and sprang forward. The Indian's small dark hand grasped Spearman's wrist, and his face twitched itself into a fierce grin which showed how little civilization had modified in him the aboriginal passions. But Spearman did not try to "lose" his way; instead, he drew back suddenly. Alan stooped and picked up the papers and put them in his pocket. If the Indian had not been there, it would not have been so easy for him to do that, he thought.

CHAPTER XI

The Land of the Drum.

Alan went with Wassaquam into the front library, after the Indian had shown Spearman out. "This was the man, Judah, who came for Mr. Corvet that night I was hurt?" "Yes, Alan," Wassaquam said. "He was the man, then, who came here twice a year, at least, to see Mr. Corvet?" "Yes." "I've sure of it," Alan said. "Can you tell me now why he came here, Judah?" "I have told you I do not know," Wassaquam replied. "He always says him; Ben gave him money. I do not know why."

Alan had been holding his hand over the papers which he had thrust into his pocket; he went back into the smaller library and spread them under the reading lamp to examine them. But, as he looked the papers over now, he felt a chill of disappointment and chagrin. They did not contain any narrative concerning Benjamin Corvet's life; they did not even relate to a single event. They were no narrative at all. They were—in his first examination of them, he could not tell what they were.

They consisted in all of some dozen sheets of irregular size, some of which had been kept much longer than others, a few of which even appeared fresh and new. The three pages which Alan thought, from their yellowed and worn look, must be the oldest, and which must have been kept for many years, contained only a list of names and addresses. The remaining pages, which he counted as ten in number, contained nearly a hundred brief clippings from newspapers; the clippings had been very carefully cut out, they had been pasted with painful regularity on the sheets, and each had been dated across its face.

The pasting away of one of the oldest residents of Emmet county occurred at the poorfarm on Thursday last week. Mr. Fred Westhouse was one of four brothers brought by their parents into Emmet county in 1846. He established himself here as a farmer and was well known among our people for many years. He was nearly the last of his family. Which was quite well off at one time, Mr. Westhouse's three brothers and his father having perished in various disasters upon the lake. His wife died two years ago. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Pearl, of Flint.

He read another: "Hallford-Spens. On Tuesday last Miss Audrey Hallford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hallford, of this place, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Robert Spens, of Escanaba. All wish the young couple well."

He read another: "Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hal French, a daughter, Saturday afternoon last, Miss Vera Arabella French, at her ancestral weighed seven and one-half pounds."

This clipping was dated, in Benjamin Corvet's hand, "Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Aug. 1914." Alan put it aside in bewilderment and amazement and took up again the sheets he first had looked at. The names and addresses on these oldest, yellowed pages had been first written, it was plain, all at the same time and with the same pen and ink, and each sheet in the beginning had contained seven or eight names. Some of these original names and even the addresses had been left unchanged, but most of them had been scratched out and altered many times—other and quite different names had been substituted; the pages had become finally almost illegible, crowded scrawls, rewritten again and again in Corvet's cramped hand. Alan strained forward, holding the first sheet to the light.

Alan seized the clippings he had looked at before and compared them swiftly with the page he had just read: two of the names Westhouse and French—were the same as those upon the other pages of the list and looked them through for his own name; but it was not there. He dropped the sheets upon the table and got up and began to stride about the room. He felt that in this list and in these clippings there must be, somehow, some one general meaning—they must relate in some way to one thing; they must have deeply, intensely concerned Benjamin Corvet's disappearance and his present fate, whatever that might be, and they must concern Alan's fate as well. But in their disconnected, their incoherence, he could discern no common thread. What conceivable bond could there have been uniting Benjamin Corvet at once with an old man dying upon a poorfarm in Emmet county, wherever that might be, and with a baby girl, now some two years old, in Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin?

He called Wassaquam into the library and brought the lists and clippings out again.

"Do you know at all what these are, Judah?" he asked.

"No, Alan. I have seen Ben have them, and take them out and put them back. That is all I know."

"Do you know any of these people?"

He gave the lists to Wassaquam, who studied them through attentively, holding them to the lamp.

"No, Alan."

"Have you ever heard of any of their names before?"

"That may be," I do not know. They are common names."

"Do you know the places?"

"Yes—the places. They are lake ports or little villages on the lakes. I have been in most of them, Alan. Emmet county, Alan, I came from there. Henry comes from there, too."

"Then that is where they bear the drum?"

"Yes, Alan."

"My father took newspapers from those places, did he not?"

Wassaquam looked over the addresses again. "Yes; from all. He took them for the shipping news, he said. And sometimes he cut pieces out of them—these pieces, I see now; and afterward I burned the papers; he would not let me only throw them away."

"That's all you know about them, Judah?"

"Yes, Alan; that is all."

Alan dismissed the Indian, who stolidly methodical in the midst of these events, went downstairs and commenced to prepare a dinner which Alan knew he could not eat. Alan got up and moved about the rooms; he went back and looked over the lists and clippings once more; then he moved about again. How strange a picture of his father and these things came up to him! When he had thought of Benjamin Corvet before, it had been as Sherrill had described him, pursued by some thought he could not conquer, seeking relief in study, in correspondence with scientific societies, in anything which could engross him and shut out memory. But now he must think of him, not merely as one trying to forget; what had thwarted Corvet's life was not only in the past; it was something still going on. It had amazed Sherrill to learn that Corvet, for twenty years, had kept trace of Alan; but Corvet had kept trace in the same way and with the same secrecy of many other people—of about a score of people. When Alan thought of Corvet alone in his quiet house, he must think of him as solitaneous about these people; as seeking for their names in the newspapers which he took for that purpose, and as recording the changes in their lives. The deaths, the births, the marriages among these people had been of the intensest interest to Corvet.

"Do You Know At All What These Are, Judah?" He Asked.

It was possible that none of these people knew about Corvet; Alan had not known about him in Kansas, but had known only that some unknown person had sent money for his support. But he appreciated that it did not matter whether they knew about him or not; for at some point common to all of them, the lives of these people must have touched Corvet's life. When Alan knew what had been that point of contact, he would know about Corvet; he would know about himself.

Alan had seen among Corvet's books a set of charts of the Great Lakes. He went and got that now and an atlas. Opening them upon the table, he looked up the addresses given on Corvet's list. They were most of them, he found, towns about the northern end of the lake; a very few upon other lakes—Superior and Huron—but most were upon or very close to Lake Michigan. These people lived by means of the lake; they got their sustenance from it, as Corvet had lived, and as Corvet had got his wealth. Alan was feeling like one who, bound, had been suddenly unloosed. From the time when, coming to see Corvet, he had found Corvet gone, until now, he had felt the impossibility of explaining from anything he knew or seemed likely to learn the mystery which had surrounded himself and which had surrounded Corvet. But these names and addresses! They indeed offered something to go upon, though Luke now was forever still, and his pockets had told Alan nothing.

He found Emmet county on the map and put his finger on it. Spearman, Wassaquam had said, came from there. "The Land of the Drum!" he said aloud. Deep and sudden feeling stirred in him as he traced out this land on the chart—the little towns and villages, the islands and headlands, their lights and their uneven shores. A feeling of "home" had come to him, which he had not had on coming to Chicago. There were Indian names and French up there about the meetings of the great waters. The sense that he was of these lakes, that surge of feeling which he had felt first in conversation with Constance Sherrill was strengthened an hundredfold.

He gazed down at the lists of names which Benjamin Corvet had kept so carefully and so secretly; these were his father's people, too; these ragged shores and the islands studding the channels were the lands where his father had spent the most active part of his life. There, then—these lists now made it certain—that events had happened by which that life had been blighted. North, there by the meeting of the waters, was the region of the wrong which was done. "That's where I must go!" he said aloud. "That's where I must go!"

Constance Sherrill, on the following afternoon, received a telephone call from her father; he was coming home earlier than usual, he said; if she had planned to go out, would she wait until after he got there? The afternoon's mail was upon a stand in the hall; she turned it over, looking through it—inventions, social notes. She picked from among them an envelope addressed to herself in a firm, clear hand, which, unfamiliar to her, still quietly startled her, and tore it open. "Dear Miss Sherrill," she read.

"I am closing for the time being the house which, for default of other ownership, I must call mine. The possibility that what has occurred here would cause you and your father anxiety about me in case I went away without telling you of my intention is the reason for this note. But it is not the only reason. I could not go away without telling you how deeply I appreciate the generosity and delicacy you and your father have shown me in spite of my position here and of the fact that I had no claim at all upon you. I shall not forget those, even though what happened here last night makes it impossible for me to try to see you again or even to write to you."

"ALAN CONRAD."

She heard her father's motor enter the drive and ran to him with the letter in her hand.

"He's written to you, then?" he said, at sight of it.

"I had a note from him this afternoon at the office, asking me to hold in abeyance for the time being the trust that Ben had left me and returning the key of the house to me for safekeeping."

"Has he already gone?"

"I suppose so; I don't know."

"We must find out." She caught up her wraps and began to put them on. Sherrill hesitated, then assented; and they went to the back together to the Corvet house. Sherrill, after a few instant's hesitation, took the key from his pocket and unlocked the door and went in. The rooms, they saw, were all in perfect order; summer covers had been put upon the furniture; protecting cloths had been spread over the beds upstairs. After their inspection, they came out again at the front door, and her father closed it with a snapping of the spring lock.

Constance, as they walked away, turned and looked back at the old house, gloomy and dark among its newer, fresher-looking neighbors, and suddenly she choked, and her eyes grew wet. That feeling was not for Uncle Benny; the drain of days past had exhausted such a surge of feeling for him. That which she could not wink away was for the boy who had come to that house a few weeks ago and for the man who just now had gone.

CHAPTER XII

The Things From Corvet's Pockets.
"Miss Constance Sherrill, Harbor Springs, Michigan."

The address, in large scrawling letters, was written across the brown paper of the package which had been brought from the post office in the little resort village only a few moments before. The paper covered a shoe box, crumpled and old, bearing the name of "S. Klug, Dealer in Fine Shoes, Milwaukee, Wisconsin." The box, like the outside wrapping, was carefully tied with a string.

Constance, knowing no one in Manitowish and surprised at the nature of the package, glanced at the postmark on the brown paper which she had removed; it too was stamped Manitowish. She cut the strings about the box and took off the cover. A black and brown dotted silk filled the box; and, seeing it, Constance caught her breath. It was—at least it was very like—the muffler which Uncle Benny used to wear in winter.

She started with trembling fingers to take it from the box; then, realizing from the weight of the package that the cloth was only a wrapping or, at least, that other things were in the box, she picked up box and wrapping and ran up to her room. She looked the door and put the box upon the bed; now she lifted out the cloth. It was a wrapping for the heavier things came with it; and now, also, it revealed itself plainly as the scarf—Uncle Benny's scarf! A paper fluttered out as she began to unravel it—a little cross-lined leaf evidently torn from a pocket memorandum book. It had been folded and rolled up. She spread it out; writing was upon it, the small irregular letters of Uncle Benny's hand.

"Send to Alan Conrad," she read; there followed a Chicago address—the number of Uncle Benny's house on Astor street. Below this was another line:

"Better care of Constance Sherrill (Miss). There followed the Sherrill's address upon the Drive. And to this was another correction:

"Not after June 12; then to Harbor Springs, Mich. Ask some one of that; be sure the date; after June 12."

Constance, trembling, unrolled the scarf; now coils showed from a fold, next a pocketknife, ruined and rusty, next a watch—a man's large gold watch with the case severely pitted and worn completely through in places, and last a plain little band of gold of the size for a woman's finger—a wedding ring. Constance, gasping and with fingers shaking from excitement that she could scarcely hold these objects, picked them up and examined them—the ring first.

It very evidently was, as she had immediately thought, a wedding ring once fitted for a finger only a trifle less slender than her own. One side of the gold band was very much worn, not with the sort of wear which a ring gets on a hand, but by some different sort of abrasion. The other side of the band was roughened and pitted but not so much worn; the inside still bore the traces of an inscription. "As long as we be . . . all alive," Constance could read, and the date: June 2, 1891.

"You mean you want me to marry you—at once, Henry?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Human Life Too Short.

By all the rules which nature imposes among humbler mammals, 100 years ought to be a very ordinary age for a human being. Where is the mammal which, unless its life is cut short by accident or disease, fails to live to an age five times as great as the time it took to reach maturity? A fairly careful survey of the field answers "Nowhere." Indeed, the ratio of total life to maturity is more likely to be six, seven or eight, than five. But man, whose maturity cannot be placed at less than 20 or 22, thinks he is doing well when he passes three-score and ten, and only one out of many thousands reaches the age of one hundred.

NUTS HAVE LARGE FOOD VALUE

According to Writer in English Magazine, There Can Be No Better Article of Diet.

Nut crackers are not considered a necessary equipment of the ordinary household dining table. The dietary value of nuts not being fully recognized, this implement is rarely resorted to nowadays.

Yet there is no better form of diet than nuts, declares a writer in London Answers. The family fable which consigns them to the catalogue of the indigestibles is "an unconscionable tale-dying." A child's taste, however, is often the best criterion of a food's value, and all children love nuts, even as do monkeys.

We should consume nuts all the year round, eating, say, a certain quantity daily, chewing them methodically.

If children had as free access to the nut crop as have monkeys there would be fewer digestive weaklings. This applies to grownups as well.

most certain to disagree, as they will also if eaten after a heavy meal of other food or insufficiently masticated.

The proper time to eat nuts is just at the beginning of a meal. Then they fill the mouth with a copious flow of saliva which will assist in enveloping the fats stored in this important food.

In cold weather they are invaluable assisting greatly in maintaining the bodily heat. Nothing, therefore, can compare with them as a morning diet for children and a small saucerful will not be too large a supply.

Diogenes' Find.

"You have ended your quest for a honest man?"

"Yes," said Diogenes, as he put his lantern away.

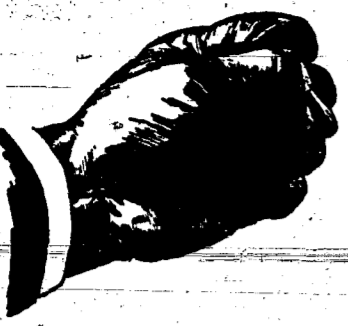

"Where did you find him?"

"Holding public office. Instead of saying he was serving the people at a great personal sacrifice he said if he hadn't landed the job he might have starved to death."—Birmingham Age Herald.

The man who has to eat at restaurants thinks that life is just one dining station after another.

Had Your Iron Today?

5¢

Get Some—energy and iron

NEVER mind the weather—get some new vitality—speed up any way. Don't be a lagger.

Vital men resist the heat. Let little raisins help. 75 per cent pure fruit sugar. 145 calories of energizing nutriment in every package—practically predigested so it gets to work almost immediately.

No tax on digestion so it doesn't heat the blood. Fatigue resisting food-iron also! All natural and good.

Try it when you're slipping—when you yawn at 3 P.M. Stiffens up your backbone and makes thoughts flow again.

Two packages and a glass of milk form greatest mid-day lunch you've ever tried.

Little Sun-Maids

Between-Meal Raisins

5c Everywhere

—in Little Red Packages

10c Makes Old Waists Like New

Putnam Fadeless Dyes—dyes or tints as you wish

Hang 'Em Up To Press

Something every man with a shirt or tie in every closet wants. The "Hang 'Em Up To Press" is a new invention that hangs your shirt or tie in the closet and keeps it pressed and ready to wear. It is made of a special material that is washable and durable. It is the only thing of its kind on the market.

NOVITAS TROUSER PRESS

For general agents, see list on page 10. For special agents, see list on page 11.

BRICKLAYERS WANTED

Steady Work for Eight Months
$1.12½ Per Hour

Owen-Ames-Kimball Co.
Michigan Trust Building
Grand Rapids, Michigan

It Would Be But a Pittance.

"I used to think I could be perfectly happy," she said, "if my husband had a million."

"Wouldn't you be satisfied with that?"

"Goodness, no! Nearly every man in our neighborhood was a war profiteer."

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELLANS

6 BELLANS Hot Water Sure Relief

25¢ and 75¢ Packages, Everywhere

Watch Cuticles Improve Your Skin.

On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticle Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticle Soap and hot water. It is wonderful what Cuticle will do for poor complexion, dandruff, itching and red rough hands.—Advertisement.

Complete Removal.

Fat Moths-in-Lap—Look. James, dear, here at last I've found something to remove my flesh. It's guaranteed to take off 30 pounds a month. That makes it just right for one who weighs 180 pounds like I do.

Don't know—Yes. Now use it diligently for six months.

"LAND OF THE DRUM."

SYNOPSIS.—Wealthy and highly placed in the Chicago business world, Benjamin Corvet is something of a recluse and a mystery to his associates. After a stormy interview with his partner, Henry Spearman, Corvet sends Constance Sherrill, daughter of his other business partner, Lawrence Sherrill, and secures from her a promise not to marry Spearman until he returns. He then disappears. Sherrill learns Corvet has written to a certain Alan Conrad, in Blue Rapids, Kansas, and exhibited strange agitation over the matter. Alan arrives in Chicago. From a statement of Sherrill it seems probable that Corvet is a legitimate son. Corvet has died his house and its contents to Alan, who takes possession. That night Alan discovers a man, resembling Corvet, in his apartment. The intruder thinks Alan a ghost and raves of the "Mikawa." After a struggle Alan learns from Sherrill that Corvet has died, his entire property to him. Introduced to Spearman, Alan is astonished at the discovery that he is the man whom he had fought in his house the night before. Spearman laughs at and dismisses him. Corvet's son, Constance's mind against Alan. Somebody tries to kill Alan in the night. Corvet's Indian servant, Wassaquam, tells Alan he believes his employer is dead. He also tells him the legend of the Indian drum, which according to old superstition, beats once for every life lost on the Great Lakes. Twenty years before, the great freighter Mikawa had gone down with twenty-five on board, but the drum had sounded for only twenty-four, leaving the inference that one person had been saved. Luke, who has long been blackmailing Corvet, appears, talks mysteriously and dies.

CHAPTER X—Continued.

But Luke had said nothing about Spearman. It had been Corvet, and Corvet alone, whom Luke had spoken; it was Corvet whom he had accused; it was Corvet who had given him money. Was it conceivable, then, that there had been two such events in Corvet's life? That one of these events concerned the Mikawa and Spearman and some one—some one "with a bullet hole above the eye"—who had "killed" Corvet; and that the other event had concerned Luke and something else? It was not conceivable, Alan was sure; it was all one thing. If Corvet had to do with the Mikawa, then Luke had had to do with it too. And Spearman? But if Spearman had been involved in that guilty thing, had not Luke known it? Then why had not Luke mentioned Spearman? Or had Spearman not been really involved? Had it been, perhaps, only evidence of knowledge of what Corvet had done that Spearman had tried to discover and destroy?

Alan went to the door and opened it, as he heard Spearman upon the steps again. Spearman waited only until the door had been reclosed behind him.

"Well, Conrad, what was the idea of bringing Miss Sherrill into this?"

"I didn't bring her in; I tried the best I could to keep her out."

"Out of what, exactly?"

"You know better than I do. You know exactly what it is. You know that man, Spearman; you know what he came here for. I don't mean money; I mean you know why he came here for money, and why he got it. I tried, as well as I could, to make him tell me; but he wouldn't do it. There's disgrace of some sort here, of course—disgrace that involves my father and I, I think, you too. If you're not guilty of this thing, then—well, if you are guilty, then, at least, your refusal to help will let me know that."

"I don't know what you're talking about. I told you this man may have been a wheelman on the Corvet; I don't know more about him than that. I don't even know that certainly. Of course, I knew Ben Corvet was paying blackmail; I've known for years that he was giving up money to some one. I don't know who he paid it to; or for what."

The strain of the last few hours was telling upon Alan; his skin flushed hot and cold by turns. He paced up and down while he controlled himself.

"That's not enough, Spearman," he said finally. "I've felt you, somehow, underneath all these things. The first time I saw you, you were in this house doing something you ought not to have been doing; you fought me; then you would have killed me rather than not get away. Two weeks ago, some one attacked me on the street—for robbery, they said; but I know it wasn't robbery."

"You're not so crazy as to be trying to involve me in that."

There came a sound to them from the hall, a sound unmistakably denoting some presence. Spearman jerked suddenly up; Alan, going to the door and looking into the hall, saw Wassaquam. The Indian evidently had returned to the house some time before; he had been bringing to Alan now the accounts which he had settled. He seemed to have been standing in the hall for some time, listening; but he came in now, looking inquiringly from one to the other of them.

"Not friends?" he inquired. "You and Henry?"

Alan's passion broke out suddenly. "Were anything but that, Judah," he found him, the first night I got here and while you were away, going through my father's things. I fought with him, and he ran away. He was the one that broke into my father's desk; maybe you'll believe that, even if no one else will."

"Yes," the Indian questioned. "It was plain that he not only believed that believing gave him immense satisfaction. He took Alan's arm and led him into the smaller library. He knelt before one of the drawers under the bookshelves—the drawer, Alan recalled, which he himself had been examining when he had found Wassaquam watching him. He drew out the drawer and dumped its contents out upon the floor; he turned the drawer about then, and pulled the bottom out of it. Beneath the bottom which he had removed appeared now another bottom and a few sheets of paper scribbled in an uneven hand and with different colored inks.

At sight of them, Spearman, who had followed them into the room, uttered an oath and sprang forward. The Indian's small dark hand grasped Spearman's wrist, and his face twitched itself into a fierce grin which showed how little civilization had modified in him the aboriginal passions. But Spearman did not try to force his way; instead, he drew back suddenly.

Alan stooped and picked up the papers and put them in his pocket. If the Indian had not been there, it would not have been so easy for him to do that, he thought.

CHAPTER XI

The Land of the Drum.

Alan went with Wassaquam into the front library, after the Indian had shown Spearman out.

"This was the man, Judah, who came for Mr. Corvet that night I was hurt?"

"Yes, Alan," Wassaquam said.

"He was the man, then, who came here twice a year, at least, to see Mr. Corvet?"

"Yes."

"I was sure of it," Alan said. "Can you tell me now why he came here, Judah?"

"I have told you I do not know," Wassaquam replied. "Ben always saw him; Ben gave him money. I do not know why."

Alan had been holding his hand over the papers which he had thrust into his pocket; he went back into the smaller library and spread them under the reading lamp to examine them. But, as he looked the pages over now, he felt a chill of disappointment and chagrin. They did not contain any narrative concerning Benjamin Corvet's life; they did not even relate to a single event. They were no narrative at all. They were—in his first examination of them, he could not tell what they were.

They consisted in all of some dozen sheets of irregular size, some of which had been kept much longer than others, a few of which even appeared fresh and new. The three pages which Alan thought, from their yellowed and worn look, must be the oldest, and which must have been kept for many years, contained only a list of names and addresses. The remaining pages, which he counted as ten, continued nearly a hundred brief clippings from newspapers; the clippings had been very carefully cut out, they had been pasted with painful regularity on the sheets, and each had been dated across its face—dates made with many different pens and with many different inks, but all in the same irregular handwriting as the letter which Alan had received from Benjamin Corvet.

Alan, his fingers numb in his disappointment, turned and examined all these pages; but they contained nothing else. He read one of the clippings which was dated "Feb. 1912."

"The passing away of one of the oldest residents of Emmet county occurred at the poorfarm on Thursday last week. Mr. Fred Westhouse was one of four brothers brought by their parents into Emmet county in 1848. He established himself here as a farmer and was well known among our people for many years. He was nearly the last of his family, which was well off at one time. Mr. Westhouse's three brothers and his father having perished in various disasters upon the lake. His wife died two years ago. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Pearl, of Flint."

He read another.

"Hilford Spens. On Tuesday last Miss Audrey Hilford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hilford, of this place, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Robert Spens, of Escanaba. All wish the young couple well."

He read another.

"Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hal French, a daughter, Saturday afternoon last. Miss Vera Arabella French, at her arrival weighed seven and one-half pounds."

This clipping was dated, in Benjamin Corvet's hand, "Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Aug. 1914." Alan put it aside in bewilderment and amazement and took up again the sheets he first had looked at. The names and addresses on these oldest, yellowed pages had been first written, it was plain all at the same time and with the same pen and ink, and each sheet in the beginning had contained seven or eight names. Some of these original names and even the addresses had been left unchanged, but most of them had been scratched out and altered many times—other and quite different names had been substituted; the pages had become finally almost illegible, crowded scrawls, rewritten again and again in Corvet's cramped hand. Alan strained forward, holding the first sheet to the light.

Alan seized the clippings he had looked at before and compared them with the page he had just read. Two of the names—Westhouse and French—were the same as those upon the other pages of the list and looked them through for his own names; but it was not there. He dropped the sheets upon the table and got up and began to stride about the room.

He felt that in this list and in these clippings there must be, somehow, some one general meaning—they must relate in some way to one thing; they must have deeply, intensely concerned Benjamin Corvet's disappearance and his present fate, whatever that might be, and they must concern Alan's fate as well. But in their disconnection, their incoherence, he could discern no common thread. What conceivable bond could there have been uniting Benjamin Corvet at once with an Emmet county, wherever that might be, and with a baby girl, now some two years old, in Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin?

He called Wassaquam into the library and brought the lists and clippings out again.

"Do you know at all what these are, Judah?" he asked.

"No, Alan. I have seen Ben have them, and take them out and put them back. That is all I know."

"Do you know any of these people?"

He gave the lists to Wassaquam, who studied them through attentively, holding them to the lamp.

"No, Alan."

"Have you ever heard of any of their names before?"

"That may be, I do not know. They are common names."

"Do you know the places?"

"Yes—the places. They are lake ports or little villages on the lakes. I have been in most of them. Alan, Emmet county, Alan, I came from there. Henry comes from there, too."

"Then that is where they hear the drum?"

"Yes, Alan."

"My father took newspapers from these places, did he not?"

Wassaquam looked over the addresses again. "Yes; from all. He took them for the shipping news, he said. And sometimes he cut pieces out of them—these pieces, I see now; and afterward I burned the papers; he would not let me only throw them away."

"That's all you know about them, Judah?"

"Yes, Alan; that is all."

Alan dismissed the Indian, who stoodly methodical in the midst of these events, went downstairs and commenced to prepare a dinner which Alan knew he could not eat. Alan got up and moved about the rooms; he went back and looked over the lists and clippings once more; then he moved about again. How strange a picture of his future did these things call up to him! When he had thought of Benjamin Corvet before, it had been as Sherrill had described him, pursued by some thought he could not conquer, seeking relief in study, in correspondence with scientific societies, in anything which could engross him and shut out memory. But now he must think of him, not merely as one trying to forget; what had thwarted Corvet's life was not in the past; it was something still going on. It had amazed Sherrill to learn that Corvet, for twenty years, had kept trace of Alan; but Corvet had kept trace in the same way and with the same secrecy of many other people of about a score of people. When Alan thought of Corvet, alone in his silent house, he must think of him as solicitous about these people; as seeking for their names in the newspapers which he took for that purpose, and as recording the changes in their lives. The deaths, the births, the marriages among these people had been of the intensest interest to Corvet.

It was possible that none of these people knew about Corvet; Alan had not known about him in Kansas, but had known only that some unknown person had sent money for his support. But he appreciated that it did not matter whether they knew about him or not; for at some point common to all of them, the lives of these people must have touched Corvet's life. When Alan knew what had been that point of contact, he would know about Corvet; he would know about himself.

Alan had seen among Corvet's books a set of charts of the Great Lakes. He went and got that now and an atlas. Opening them upon the table, he looked up the addresses given on Corvet's list. They were most of them, he found, towns about the northern end of the lake; a very few upon other lakes—Superior and Huron—but most were upon or very close to Lake Michigan. These people lived by means of the lake; they got their sustenance from it, as Corvet had lived, and as Corvet had got his wealth. Alan was feeling like one who, bound, has been suddenly unloosed. From the time when, coming to see Corvet, he had found Corvet gone, until now, he had felt the impossibility of explaining from anything he knew or seemed likely to learn the mystery which had surrounded himself and which had surrounded Corvet. But these names and addresses! They indeed offered something to go upon, though Luke now was forever still, and his pockets had been forever empty.

He found Emmet county on the map and put his finger on it. Spearman, Wassaquam had said, came from there. "The Land of the Drum!" he said aloud. Deep and sudden feeling stirred in him as he traced out this land on the chart—the little towns and villages, the islands and headlands, their lights and their uneven shores. A feeling of "home" had come to him, which he had not had on coming to Chicago. There were Indian names and legends up there about the meeting of the great waters. The sense that he was of these lakes, that surge of feeling which he had felt first in conversation with Constance Sherrill was strengthened an hundredfold.

He gazed down at the lists of names which Benjamin Corvet had kept so carefully and so secretly; these were his father's people, too; these ragged shores and the islands studding the channels were the lands where his father had spent the most active part of his life. There, then—these lists now made it certain—that events had happened by which that life had been blighted. North, there by the meeting of the waters, was the region of the wrong which was done.

"That's where I must go!" he said aloud. "That's where I must go!"

Constance Sherrill, on the following afternoon, received a telephone call from her father; he was coming home earlier than usual, he said; if she had planned to go out, would she wait until after he got there? The afternoon's mail was upon a stand in the hall. She turned it over, looking through it—in invitations, social notes. She picked from among them an envelope addressed to herself in a firm, clear hand, which, unfamiliar to her, still quietly startled her, and tore it open.

"Dear Miss Sherrill," she read.

"I am closing, for the time being, the house which, for default of other ownership, I must call mine. The possibility that what has occurred here would cause me and your father anxiety about me in case I went away without telling you of my intention is the reason for this note. But it is not the only reason. I could not go away without telling you how deeply I appreciate the generosity and delicacy you and your father have shown me in spite of my position here and of the fact that I had no claim at all upon you. I shall not forget those, even though what happened here last night makes it impossible for me to try to see you again or even to write to you."

"ALAN CONRAD."

She heard her father's motor enter the drive and ran to him with the letter in her hand.

"He's written to you, then?" he said, at sight of it.

"Yes."

"I had a note from him this afternoon at the office, asking me to hold in abeyance for the time being the trust that Ben had left me and returning the key of the house to me for safekeeping."

"Has he already gone?"

"I suppose so; I don't know."

"We must find out." She caught up her wraps and began to put them on. Sherrill hesitated, then assented; and they went round the block together to the Corvet house. Sherrill, after a few instants' hesitation, took the key from his pocket and unlocked the door and went in. The rooms, they saw, were all in perfect order; summer covers had been put upon the furniture; protecting cloths had been spread over the beds upstairs. After their inspection, they came out again at the front door, and her father closed it with a snapping of the spring lock.

Constance, as they walked away, turned and looked back at the old house, gloomy and dark among its newer, fresher-looking neighbors, and suddenly she choked, and her eyes grew wet. That feeling was not for Uncle Benny; the drain of days past had exhausted such a surge of feeling for him. That which she could not see away was for the boy who had scored of people. When Alan thought of Corvet, alone in his silent house, he must think of him as solicitous about these people; as seeking for their names in the newspapers which he took for that purpose, and as recording the changes in their lives. The deaths, the births, the marriages among these people had been of the intensest interest to Corvet.

It was possible that none of these people knew about Corvet; Alan had not known about him in Kansas, but had known only that some unknown person had sent money for his support. But he appreciated that it did not matter whether they knew about him or not; for at some point common to all of them, the lives of these people must have touched Corvet's life. When Alan knew what had been that point of contact, he would know about Corvet; he would know about himself.

Alan had seen among Corvet's books a set of charts of the Great Lakes. He went and got that now and an atlas. Opening them upon the table, he looked up the addresses given on Corvet's list. They were most of them, he found, towns about the northern end of the lake; a very few upon other lakes—Superior and Huron—but most were upon or very close to Lake Michigan. These people lived by means of the lake; they got their sustenance from it, as Corvet had lived, and as Corvet had got his wealth. Alan was feeling like one who, bound, has been suddenly unloosed. From the time when, coming to see Corvet, he had found Corvet gone, until now, he had felt the impossibility of explaining from anything he knew or seemed likely to learn the mystery which had surrounded himself and which had surrounded Corvet. But these names and addresses! They indeed offered something to go upon, though Luke now was forever still, and his pockets had been forever empty.

He found Emmet county on the map and put his finger on it. Spearman, Wassaquam had said, came from there. "The Land of the Drum!" he said aloud. Deep and sudden feeling stirred in him as he traced out this land on the chart—the little towns and villages, the islands and headlands, their lights and their uneven shores. A feeling of "home" had come to him, which he had not had on coming to Chicago. There were Indian names and legends up there about the meeting of the great waters. The sense that he was of these lakes, that surge of feeling which he had felt first in conversation with Constance Sherrill was strengthened an hundredfold.

He gazed down at the lists of names which Benjamin Corvet had kept so carefully and so secretly; these were his father's people, too; these ragged shores and the islands studding the channels were the lands where his father had spent the most active part of his life. There, then—these lists now made it certain—that events had happened by which that life had been blighted. North, there by the meeting of the waters, was the region of the wrong which was done.

"That's where I must go!" he said aloud. "That's where I must go!"

Constance Sherrill, on the following afternoon, received a telephone call from her father; he was coming home earlier than usual, he said; if she had planned to go out, would she wait until after he got there? The afternoon's mail was upon a stand in the hall. She turned it over, looking through it—in invitations, social notes. She picked from among them an envelope addressed to herself in a firm, clear hand, which, unfamiliar to her, still quietly startled her, and tore it open.

"Dear Miss Sherrill," she read.

"I am closing, for the time being, the house which, for default of other ownership, I must call mine. The possibility that what has occurred here would cause me and your father anxiety about me in case I went away without telling you of my intention is the reason for this note. But it is not the only reason. I could not go away without telling you how deeply I appreciate the generosity and delicacy you and your father have shown me in spite of my position here and of the fact that I had no claim at all upon you. I shall not forget those, even though what happened here last night makes it impossible for me to try to see you again or even to write to you."

"ALAN CONRAD."

She heard her father's motor enter the drive and ran to him with the letter in her hand.

"He's written to you, then?" he said, at sight of it.

"Yes."

"I had a note from him this afternoon at the office, asking me to hold in abeyance for the time being the trust that Ben had left me and returning the key of the house to me for safekeeping."

"Has he already gone?"

"I suppose so; I don't know."

"We must find out." She caught up her wraps and began to put them on. Sherrill hesitated, then assented; and they went round the block together to the Corvet house. Sherrill, after a few instants' hesitation, took the key from his pocket and unlocked the door and went in. The rooms, they saw, were all in perfect order; summer covers had been put upon the furniture; protecting cloths had been spread over the beds upstairs. After their inspection, they came out again at the front door, and her father closed it with a snapping of the spring lock.

Constance, as they walked away, turned and looked back at the old house, gloomy and dark among its newer, fresher-looking neighbors, and suddenly she choked, and her eyes grew wet. That feeling was not for Uncle Benny; the drain of days past had exhausted such a surge of feeling for him. That which she could not see away was for the boy who had scored of people. When Alan thought of Corvet, alone in his silent house, he must think of him as solicitous about these people; as seeking for their names in the newspapers which he took for that purpose, and as recording the changes in their lives. The deaths, the births, the marriages among these people had been of the intensest interest to Corvet.

It was possible that none of these people knew about Corvet; Alan had not known about him in Kansas, but had known only that some unknown person had sent money for his support. But he appreciated that it did not matter whether they knew about him or not; for at some point common to all of them, the lives of these people must have touched Corvet's life. When Alan knew what had been that point of contact, he would know about Corvet; he would know about himself.

Alan had seen among Corvet's books a set of charts of the Great Lakes. He went and got that now and an atlas. Opening them upon the table, he looked up the addresses given on Corvet's list. They were most of them, he found, towns about the northern end of the lake; a very few upon other lakes—Superior and Huron—but most were upon or very close to Lake Michigan. These people lived by means of the lake; they got their sustenance from it, as Corvet had lived, and as Corvet had got his wealth. Alan was feeling like one who, bound, has been suddenly unloosed. From the time when, coming to see Corvet, he had found Corvet gone, until now, he had felt the impossibility of explaining from anything he knew or seemed likely to learn the mystery which had surrounded himself and which had surrounded Corvet. But these names and addresses! They indeed offered something to go upon, though Luke now was forever still, and his pockets had been forever empty.

He found Emmet county on the map and put his finger on it. Spearman, Wassaquam had said, came from there. "The Land of the Drum!" he said aloud. Deep and sudden feeling stirred in him as he traced out this land on the chart—the little towns and villages, the islands and headlands, their lights and their uneven shores. A feeling of "home" had come to him, which he had not had on coming to Chicago. There were Indian names and legends up there about the meeting of the great waters. The sense that he was of these lakes, that surge of feeling which he had felt first in conversation with Constance Sherrill was strengthened an hundredfold.

He gazed down at the lists of names which Benjamin Corvet had kept so carefully and so secretly; these were his father's people, too; these ragged shores and the islands studding the channels were the lands where his father had spent the most active part of his life. There, then—these lists now made it certain—that events had happened by which that life had been blighted. North, there by the meeting of the waters, was the region of the wrong which was done.

"That's where I must go!" he said aloud. "That's where I must go!"

Constance Sherrill, on the following afternoon, received a telephone call from her father; he was coming home earlier than usual, he said; if she had planned to go out, would she wait until after he got there? The afternoon's mail was upon a stand in the hall. She turned it over, looking through it—in invitations, social notes. She picked from among them an envelope addressed to herself in a firm, clear hand, which, unfamiliar to her, still quietly startled her, and tore it open.

"Dear Miss Sherrill," she read.

"I am closing, for the time being, the house which, for default of other ownership, I must call mine. The possibility that what has occurred here would cause me and your father anxiety about me in case I went away without telling you of my intention is the reason for this note. But it is not the only reason. I could not go away without telling you how deeply I appreciate the generosity and delicacy you and your father have shown me in spite of my position here and of the fact that I had no claim at all upon you. I shall not forget those, even though what happened here last night makes it impossible for me to try to see you again or even to write to you."

"ALAN CONRAD."

She heard her father's motor enter the drive and ran to him with the letter in her hand.

"He's written to you, then?" he said, at sight of it.

"Yes."

"I had a note from him this afternoon at the office, asking me to hold in abeyance for the time being the trust that Ben had left me and returning the key of the house to me for safekeeping."

"Has he already gone?"

"I suppose so; I don't know."

"We must find out." She caught up her wraps and began to put them on. Sherrill hesitated, then assented; and they went round the block together to the Corvet house. Sherrill, after a few instants' hesitation, took the key from his pocket and unlocked the door and went in. The rooms, they saw, were all in perfect order; summer covers had been put upon the furniture; protecting cloths had been spread over the beds upstairs. After their inspection, they came out again at the front door, and her father closed it with a snapping of the spring lock.

Constance, as they walked away, turned and looked back at the old house, gloomy and dark among its newer, fresher-looking neighbors, and suddenly she choked, and her eyes grew wet. That feeling was not for Uncle Benny; the drain of days past had exhausted such a surge of feeling for him. That which she could not see away was for the boy who had scored of people. When Alan thought of Corvet, alone in his silent house, he must think of him as solicitous about these people; as seeking for their names in the newspapers which he took for that purpose, and as recording the changes in their lives. The deaths, the births, the marriages among these people had been of the intensest interest to Corvet.

It was possible that none of these people knew about Corvet; Alan had not known about him in Kansas, but had known only that some unknown person had sent money for his support. But he appreciated that it did not matter whether they knew about him or not; for at some point common to all of them, the lives of these people must have touched Corvet's life. When Alan knew what had been that point of contact, he would know about Corvet; he would know about himself.

Alan had seen among Corvet's books a set of charts of the Great Lakes. He went and got that now and an atlas. Opening them upon the table, he looked up the addresses given on Corvet's list. They were most of them, he found, towns about the northern end of the lake; a very few upon other lakes—Superior and Huron—but most were upon or very close to Lake Michigan. These people lived by means of the lake; they got their sustenance from it, as Corvet had lived, and as Corvet had got his wealth. Alan was feeling like one who, bound, has been suddenly unloosed. From the time when, coming to see Corvet, he had found Corvet gone, until now, he had felt the impossibility of explaining from anything he knew or seemed likely to learn the mystery which had surrounded himself and which had surrounded Corvet. But these names and addresses! They indeed offered something to go upon, though Luke now was forever still, and his pockets had been forever empty.

He gazed down at the lists of names which Benjamin Corvet had kept so carefully and so secretly; these were his father's people, too; these ragged shores and the islands studding the channels were the lands where his father had spent the most active part of his life. There, then—these lists now made it certain—that events had happened by which that life had been blighted. North, there by the meeting of the waters, was the region of the wrong which was done.

"That's where I must go!" he said aloud. "That's where I must go!"

Constance Sherrill, on the following afternoon, received a telephone call from her father; he was coming home earlier than usual, he said; if she had planned to go out, would she wait until after he got there? The afternoon's mail was upon a stand in the hall. She turned it over, looking through it—in invitations, social notes. She picked from among them an envelope addressed to herself in a firm, clear hand, which, unfamiliar to her, still quietly startled her, and tore it open.

"Dear Miss Sherrill," she read.

"I am closing, for the time being, the house which, for default of other ownership, I must call mine. The possibility that what has occurred here would cause me and your father anxiety about me in case I went away without telling you of my intention is the reason for this note. But it is not the only reason. I could not go away without telling you how deeply I appreciate the generosity and delicacy you and your father have shown me in spite of my position here and of the fact that I had no claim at all upon you. I shall not forget those, even though what happened here last night makes it impossible for me to try to see you again or even to write to you."

"ALAN CONRAD."

She heard her father's motor enter the drive and ran to him with the letter in her hand.

"He's written to you, then?" he said, at sight of it.

"Yes."

"I had a note from him this afternoon at the

Full Line of Insecticides

Paris Green
Arsenate of Lead
Bordeaux Mixture
Calcium Arsenate
El Vampiro
Le Gears Fly Chaser
Black Flag, etc.

For anything in the drug line call phone number 1. We deliver.

Central Drug Store

THE NYAL STORE CHRIS W. OLSEN, Prop'r
PHONE No. 4

LOCAL NEWS

LeGear's Fly Chaser.
Central Drug Store.
July Vocalion records just received.
Hilton's.

Bring in your films today and get them tomorrow. Wingard Studio. tf.

Mrs. James Brown returned home Saturday from a week's visit with relatives in Bay City.

Ernest Richards and daughter Miss Marguerite visited relatives in Bay
City the fore part of the week.

Master Arnold Jerome of Pontiac, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bates for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trudo were in Grayling on business yesterday and also to visit their son Harvey and family.

Mrs. Freborn McDermaid of Flint arrived in Grayling Tuesday owing to the illness of her mother, Mrs. David White.

Arthur and Dorothy May, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank May are spending ten days visiting relatives in Pin-conning.

Mrs. Bert Gunderson of Grand Rapids arrived Friday to visit her mother, Mrs. Hattie Bissanette, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Orpin A. Hilton are entertaining Mrs. Hilton's mother, Mrs. J. M. Daniels and brother, John
H. Daniels, of Adrian.

Mr. and Mrs. John Billings, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Niederer and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Neal and family enjoyed a motor trip to Traverse City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Curtis and children arrived last week from Pensacola, Florida, to spend the summer visiting Mrs. Curtis' mother, Mrs.
Clara McLeod.

Miss Ruth Woodruff, of Bay City entered the Mercy Hospital Training school for nurses in this city this morning. Miss Woodruff is a sister of Mrs. Clarence Brown.

Mrs. Charles Ewalt and children,
Arlo, Wayne and George and mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Ewalt left yesterday to spend a couple of weeks visiting relatives in Flint.

Miss Ruth Ryan is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. J. Joseph, having just closed her second year of teaching in the Petoskey schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank May are happy over the arrival of a son at their home Saturday, June 24. The little boy weighed 8 1/2 pounds. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

Rev. A. W. Baker of Oshtemo, Mich., who was visiting relatives in the city filled the pulpit at the Michigan Memorial church at the morning service last Sunday.

Clarence Brown was removed from Mercy Hospital to his home last Saturday. He is getting along nicely from the injuries he received in the auto mishap a couple of weeks ago.

Mrs. Anna Insey, daughter, Miss Margaret and sons Stanley and Martine motored up from Detroit, arriving last Wednesday, and are spending about three weeks at their cottage at Lake Margrethe.

35c will buy a dozen of large Sun-side lemons Saturday and Monday at the Salling Hanson Co. store.

20 per cent off on all boys' dress shoes. Sale ends July 3rd. Read the ad in this issue.

E. J. Olson.

John Larson left Saturday for Lansing on business.

3 days only. Shoe sale, Friday Saturday and Monday.

E. J. Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Larson have as their guests the latter's sister, Mrs. Armon Carr and two sons of Bad Axe.

Mrs. F. L. Mienelson and son Lewis arrived Thursday from Detroit, joining Mr. Mienelson and sons at Lake Margrethe.

Seven operations for the removal of tonsils were performed by Dr.
Howell Wednesday forenoon, at Mercy hospital.

A gray fox neck fur was lost somewhere on the streets last Saturday night. A reward is offered for its return to Miss Arvey Tetu.

Saturday and Monday we will sell large Sunside lemons at 35c per dozen. You will want pink lemonade the Fourth. Salling Hanson Co.

O. A. Hilton returned Saturday from Grand Rapids where he had attended the furniture exposition, and made purchases for his furniture business here.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Game and children, Joyce, Junior and Barbara Mae are enjoying a couple of weeks outing at Lake Margrethe, occupying the Bates cottage.

Geo. Burke has purchased the Walner Jorgenson barn on Norway street, next to his garage, and will tear it down. He says this will greatly improve the appearance on the street.

Mrs. Julius Kramer of Gaylord is at Mercy hospital as the result of a shooting accident, that occurred Tuesday. Many stories of how it happened are about, but we have no definite details.

Mrs. Hansine Hanson and children enjoyed a motor trip to Alma Friday, going to visit her daughter, Miss Ingeborg, who is employed as stenographer for the Republic Motor Truck company of that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McNeven enjoyed a visit over Sunday from the latter's brother Rev. A. W. Baker and family of Oshtemo, Mich., who had been on a motor trip to Petoskey and Harbor Springs, and were returning home.

Miss Mae Richardson of Roscom-mon who has taught in the Grayling schools the past two terms, has gone to Ypsilanti to take up the six weeks summer course in teaching. Miss Richardson will teach in Grayling again next year.

Mrs. A. J. McInnis of Detroit arrived Tuesday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. O. Milnes and brother Roy and wife. At present the family are spending a couple of weeks at the Lewis cottage at Lake Margrethe, enjoying the lake breezes.

The Citizens band has been engaged to go to East Jordan to furnish music for a big Fourth of July celebration, to be held there on Independence Day. It is expected that a number from here will accompany the band and take in the celebration at that place.

Junior Hanson made 25 of his young friends happy by inviting them to help celebrate his 11th birthday at his summer home at Lake Margrethe. This is an ideal place for boys and girls and everyone had a fine time and wished Junior many happy returns of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wolf and daughter, Miss Marjorie, of Chicago, arrived Sunday afternoon to occupy their summer home at Lake Margrethe for the season. They were accompanied by Miss Lucille Hanson of this city who has been a guest of Miss Marjorie for several weeks.

Relatives received word the latter part of the week of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Papendick of Flint. Mrs. Papendick, who is a sister of Mrs. Charles Ewalt of this city, was formerly Miss Amanda Forre, and taught a couple of terms in the Grayling schools. The baby was named Martin Donald.

Miss Bessie Brown and Henry Trudo motored to Alpena last Sunday, being accompanied on their return by Mrs. Cecil Parker and children who came as far as Gaylord. Mr. Parker who went to Alpena some time ago and was in the bakery business, has gone to Gaylord to work in the Trudo bakery there, and the family will reside there in the future.

An article appeared in this paper recently warning motorists to get their ownership certificates before July 1st. The closing days of this month find a large number in this county without these certificates of title. A severe penalty is attached to those not holding this certificate after the first of July. If you have not gotten yours it is time right now that you did.

Theodore Sivrais, known to his friends as "Teddy" son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Sivrais of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Amanda Lafrenier of Cheboygan, in the latter city Tuesday morning. Mr. and Mrs.
Sivrais, parents of the groom of this city were in attendance at the wedding. The young couple are spending their honeymoon in Grayling, but will reside in Cheboygan, where Mr. Si-vrais has been employed for the past three years.

Truman Leveck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leveck was the victim of a most painful accident Tuesday, when the thumb of his right hand was torn off while at work at the Kerry & Hanson Flooring mill. It was near the noon hour and as he was about to take some dust from near the end matcher, the feeder pushed through a board and his thumb was caught and torn from his hand. The boy was 16 years old and had just begun work at the mill.

Grayling Base ball team will go to West Branch for a game the Fourth with the West Branch team, who are members of the Northeastern Michigan League. A celebration is to be held in West Branch that day under auspices of Tom Becraft Post American Legion of that place, they wishing to procure a Memorial for the boys of their country who took part in the World War. Many from Grayling are planning on going to West Branch to spend Independence Day.

Harry Ford of Bay City was a business caller Wednesday.

For Saturday and Monday we will have Sunside lemons at 35c per dozen. Salling Hanson Co.

Mrs. A. L. Coultis and little daughter and Mr. Henry Wilson are spending a couple of weeks at Salling near Gaylord visiting relatives.

LADIES!

We will give away Saturday morning between 9 and 12 o'clock a souvenir shopping bag. You are invited to call and get one.

Grayling Merc. Co.

NOTICE.

To my customers for whom I bought goods at the furniture market. Come in and I will inform you as to when you may expect your goods.

O. A. Hilton.

BUYING HUCKLEBERRIES.

Furnishing crates and boxes, have a truck and touring car. Will take out pickers and bring them back. I have rooms at the back part of the Russell Hotel Building. Will take in berries there, or at the N. Schlotz store, whenever you have any for sale. E. A. Reedy, Grayling, Mich.
6-22-2.

RIVERVIEW ITEMS.

Bernard Bromwell had his thumb badly smashed Monday while repairing his car. He and Mr. Potter are under the doctor's care.

Ed. Stuck of Sharon is helping Mr.
Bromwell on the railroad.

Ed. Matt and Wm. Weiss went to Otsego Lake Monday.

Miss Pillsbury of Lansing is a guest of her aunt Mrs. McLeod.

Misses Clara Weiss and Esther Ellison left Monday to work at Otsego Lake.

Vern Potter slipped while trying to get on the railroad motor car Monday, and got his leg badly bruised.

A very enjoyable time was had on Thursday afternoon when Miss Doris McLeod gave a lawn party to her Sunday School children. Dinner was served under the trees and everyone enjoyed themselves to the fullest.

ELDORADO NUGGETS.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pearsall, Jr., and son, Stanley, of Toledo, Ohio, arrived at the home of Mrs. Pearsall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Knight Sunday evening. They expect to spend their summer vacation with their relatives here.

Howard Gibson and sister, Etta, and three nephews of Sterling were visitors in the neighborhood Tuesday.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krenz and little daughter, Anna Floeter and Mr. Elmer Baer of Detroit and Mrs. John Floeter of Coy spent Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs.
Mattie Fusch.

Robert Jackson, ex-service man, has gone to the Government hospital at Chicago for medical treatment.

Fred Hartman expects to begin cutting timber for Charles Ambrose near the Big Creek in the near future.

Nelson Corwin of Grayling was here on business Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Basing of Flint spent a few days last week with Mrs. Basing's mother, Mrs. Henry Hartman.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Crane and Mrs. W. L. Knight were Grayling Friday.

Don't lose hope. Tanlac has helped thousands who had almost given up in despair. Try it. A. M. Lewis, druggist.

FOR RENT—ALLANDALE COTtage at Lake Margrethe. Inquire of Mrs. A. Kraus.

LOST—TUESDAY, JUNE 20, GASoline filling cap for Dodge auto.
Finder kindly return to this office.
6-29-1.

SALESMEN WANTED—TO SELL
auto and tractor lubricants, paint, specialties. All or spare time.
Samples free. Get the money making terms. The Ivison Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

FOUND—LODGE EMBLEM, JUNE 22. Owner may have same by proving property. Address or call the Avalanche office. tf.

THREE FRESH MILCH COWS FOR sale. Inquire of Frank Barber, Roscommon, Mich., R. R. 1 Bx 115.
6-29-2.

LOST—ONE SMALL RED COW.
Please notify A. W. Parker. Phone 894.

WANTED—FORTY TO ONE HUNdred acres wooded land situated on a large lake or traversed by a stream. A suitable building site for a summer cottage. State number of acres, price and if possible send pictures. A. G. Collins, 2914 Bend Ave., Detroit, Michigan.
6-15-4.

FOR SALE—HOUSE AND TWO
lots and garage on Ogema St.
Inquire of J. A. Holliday. Phone
No. 1182.

LOST—AUTO JACK AND TOOLS, somewhere between Grayling and Burton Farm in Beaver Creek.
Thursday June 15. Reward offered for their return. J. C. Barton.

LOST—SATURDAY NIGHT SOMEwhere on the streets, a gray fox neck fur. Kindly return to Miss Arvey Tetu and receive reward.

YOUNG MAN WANTED—TO TRAVEL with manager. Selling experience not necessary. See F. H.
Stoehr, Shoppenagon Inn. Call between 6:30 and 8:00 p. m.

HILTON

Phone 98 Phone 98

Just Back from Market

—and am prepared to meet your house furnishing needs better than any out-of-town mail order house or concern.

Price will decide.

HILTON

Home Service Furniture Dealer.

In the old McKay House, 2 Blocks North of Shoppenagon Inn
GRAYLING, MICHIGAN

MAN WANTED.

I have 280 acres south side of Main Stream near North Branch to be developed for summer home. Under brush cleaned out, healthy trees left standing. Permanent position for married man who will appreciate good opportunity. Will build living quarters, finance reasonable cattle proposition and divide profits and will pay $50.00 per month salary. Applicant must furnish recommendations from 3 reputable citizens of Grayling or vicinity. N. C. Cotabish, Lakewood, O.
6-29-3.

THE HOME OF THE SOUL.

In olden times, it was believed that the seat of the soul was the stomach, most likely for the reason that a man is never so completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. For the cure of ordinary stomach troubles, there is nothing quite so prompt and satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets.
They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

In every community there are people who have been wonderfully restored to health by taking Tanlac.
Try it. A. M. Lewis, druggist.

When You Get Back

The lure of fleeting along highways and country roads—in an Earl! One mile—two miles—five miles. Then up and over the hills —steadily, smoothly, without motor vibration. See the Earl today. Ride in it. Drive it yourself. When you get back, you will know you want to own one.

EARL

QUALITY MOTOR CARS

Olaf Sorenson & Sons

Distributors for Crawford, Kalkaska, Antrim and Otsego Counties

EARL MOTORS, INC., JACKSON, MICH.

EARL PRICES
Touring Car	$1085
Custom Roadster	1485
Brougham	1725
Sedan	1795

All prices f. o. b. Jackson

Phone 1062 Prompt Delivery

Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing

Also altering of ladies and mens suits. Telephone us to send for your gowns, suits, dresses, waists, kimono's, spats, gloves, bath robes, blankets, tapestries, draperies, table scarfs, etc., to be dry cleaned.

M. BRENNER, Prop.

The Model Tailors and Cleaners.

Remember Our Extra Pair of Pants Free With Each Suit.
The Original French Dry Cleaner.

How did your neighbor's last bargain tire turn out

PROBABLY you know
at least one car owner who is always on the look-out for the cheapest tires he can find. He likes to get them by mail or at a sale or at some place where they have big red bargain signs over the door.

It would be fine if he could get "the edge" in every tire trade.

But the dealer can't afford to let him have it.

Even if a man saw any slight percentage in tire shopping at all —it disappeared when the
"Usco" brought the price down.

A standard producer—and the dealer sells it with pride.
A good tire. The dealer has no desire to trade you into a larger profit for himself.

United States Tires
are Good Tires.

Copyright
U. S. Tire Co.

United States Tires
United States Rubber Company

An out-in-the-open tire. The dealer sells you confidence, not price. He wants you satisfied with performance and value. The only way he knows to get your business is to deserve it.

This is the "Usco" idea.

Compared with the ten-minute thrill of the bargain appeal, the "Usco" is just plain commonsense.

No tax charged on this 30x3 1/2
"USCO"

Where You Can Buy
U. S. Tires

Burke's Garage -- Grayling

it's bathing time

—and the water's fine!

BOYS, GIRLS, and GROWN-UPS will find in our store the style of Bathing Caps exactly suited to their desire.

For amateur swimmers we have the 'Safety Swimmers.' We also have for play, water balls in assorted sizes.

Come in and look our line over. Prices to suit everyone.

LOCAL NEWS

THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 1922.

Hear "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean" at Hilton's.

Prescriptions carefully compounded. Central Drug Store.

Mrs. E. W. Brudy of Kingsley, Mich., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Harry Pond.

Mrs. Holger Schmidt and daughter Marie returned Friday from a visit with friends in Detroit and Flint.

Mrs. James Bowen returned Saturday from a several weeks visit with relatives in Bay City and Saginaw.

James Oliver Curwood, author, and family of Owosso, have arrived at Houghton Lake to enjoy an outing.

Miss Laura Simpson closed her third term of teaching in the Cadillac schools and has returned home for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vallad of Michelson have been visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Vallad, caretakers of the County Infirmary.

Misses Vella, Hermann and Anna Euresky, both graduates of this year's class from the Grayling High left Saturday night for Ypsilanti to enter the State Normal for the summer term. Both young ladies expect to fit themselves for teachers.

Good fishing tackle. Central Drug Store.

Mrs. Frank Portnoy of Detroit is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Dan Owens and other relatives. She arrived last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bebb and son Reuben; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bebb and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bebb of Manicella, Sunday.

Read the 3 day shoe sale ad in this issue on men's oxfords and boys' dress shoes. Children's sandals, scufflers and patent Mary Janes.

E. J. Olson.

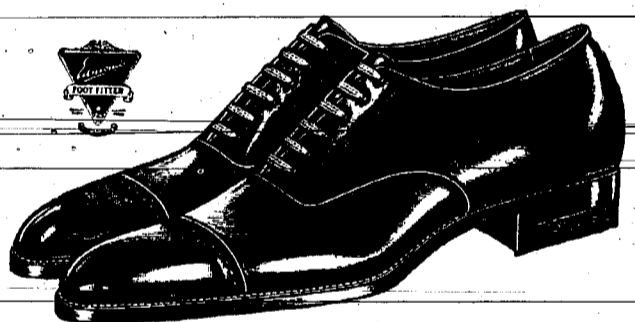

Young man start life right and establish a home. Will sell you good lot 70x120 feet with cement walk; good location. $5 down, $3 month, price $95. Emmet Reel, Phone 662.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Collier of Standish motored here Saturday and spent a few days visiting the families of the former's sisters, Mrs. Henry Bousson and Mrs. David Montour. On their return home they were accompanied by their niece Miss Fedora Montour.

Last Saturday O. P. Schumann, manager of the Palmer Fire Insurance agency received a check for $852.25 from the American Insurance company of Newark, N. J. in payment of the loss sustained by fire to the Peter F. Jorgensen feed barn. This is less than thirty days from the date of the fire. The check has been duly turned over to Mr. Jorgensen.

35 pairs Men's Oxfords to be sold at 20 per cent off. Read the ad in this issue. Sale ends July 3rd.

E. J. Olson.

TRADE AT HOME

SHOE SALE

ON

Boys Dress Shoes, and Mens Oxfords, for three days ending July 3rd.

Mens Oxfords

One lot of—

$7.50 Brown Oxfords to go at.... $5.95

$6.00 Brown Oxfords to go at.... $4.95

$6.00 Brown Oxfords to go at.... $4.45

$6.00 Black and brown to go at.... $4.45

Boys Dress Shoes—English Last

One lot of sizes 2 to 6—

$5.75 Boys Brown English Shoes $3.25

$5.00 Boys Brown English Shoes $3.25

One lot of sizes 11 to 2—

$4 Youths' Brown full toe dress shoe $2.75

Sandals, Scufflers and Mary Janes. Additional 10 per cent off on the special prices.

15 per cent off on all Mens and Boys Canvas goods, such as Mens White Oxfords, Slip-pers and Shoes, and Boys Suction Sole Gym Bals and Tennis Shoes and Slippers.

Come in and compare the goods and prices with the Mail Order houses.

This sale will end July 3rd. Come early while the picking is good.

E. J. OLSON

Exclusive agent for... Edmond's Foot Fitters and Converse Rubber Footwear.

Bairy butter at 55c per pound at Salling Hanson Co. Saturday only.

James Bowen left Wednesday for Bay City on business.

Miss Mildred Cramer of Gaylord spent Tuesday with Miss Ruth Brenner.

Edward Strahl and family of East Jordan spent Sunday at the P. L. Brown home.

Miss Maude Tetu returned Saturday to Bay City, after a three weeks visit at her home here.

Whitman's, Lowney's and Mac-Diarmid's candies. Central Drug Store.

Miss Ingeborg Hanson is enjoying a week's vacation from her duties as book-keeper for Sorenson Bros.

Mrs. Otto Nelson and little son, who have been visiting her parents in Mio for two weeks, returned home Tuesday.

Miss Bertha Stone visited her parents in Gaylord Sunday and also motored to Cheboygan and Mackinaw City.

Mr. Harvey Avery of Traverse City was in Grayling on business Monday and visited Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gillett while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Burrows and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Trudeau Sr. spent the week-end in Cheboygan visiting relatives.

Frank LaMotte and daughter returned Wednesday from Garden Bay where they had been called by the illness of a relative.

Ellsworth Lauridson will leave this afternoon for Manistee to visit his grandmother Mrs. Anna Frederickson and other relatives for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Peterson visited at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henning Peterson in Maple Forest from Thursday until Monday.

Several houses for sale, at your own price and terms. Why pay rent? See me. Walmer Jorgensen. Phone 153, or call at the Court house.

Prof. J. J. Wason of the Bay City Business College was the guest of Gordon J. Davidson over the week-end and enjoyed a few days fishing on the South Branch.

Mrs. John McMasters of Eldorado, was in Grayling Monday on business. She reports as having had a large number of guests this season at her cabin on the AuSable.

Mrs. Bert Ashenfelter and son Leece returned Tuesday from Detroit, where they visited the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Leece, who makes her home with her son Harry.

We will have a number of crocks of choice butter which we will sell Saturday at 35c per pound. If you bought any of the last that we sold at reduced prices, you know how good it was.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Olson and daughter of East Jordan visited over Sunday at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Olson. On their return they were accompanied by Mr. Olson's niece Miss Marie Olson.

Miss Doris McLeod treated her Sunday School class of Riverview to a picnic at Birchwood lodge last week Thursday. Miss Ruth Kendrick, who is visiting at the O. Palmer home was her little guest from Wednesday until Monday at the lodge.

Miss Betty Deffrain who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Chester Madison at Wolverine will return the latter part of the week and accompanied by her brother Ray will go to Cheboygan for a visit with relatives and friends. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Deffrain.

Miss Hazel Abbott who has been the guest of Miss Kathryn Clark since finishing her term of teaching in the Grayling schools, left Tuesday for her home in Ludington. Miss Abbott will not return to Grayling next year, but instead will teach in her home town, Ludington.

The Ladies Aid society of the Michelson Memorial church will have a pot luck at the home of Mrs. Olaf Michelson at Lake Margrethe, Friday July 7th. Autos will call at ten o'clock sharp, for all members who wish to go. Each member will be notified later who will call for her.

Miss Maude Pillsbury of Lansing, arrived last Friday and is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Malcolm McLeod at Birchwood Lodge, Riverview. Before returning home she expects to also visit her brother, Ed. Cooper and family in Grayling. Miss Pillsbury with her parents were former residents of Grayling, moving away a number of years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Boody, Miss Bernice Boody, Mrs. Florice Venton, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chappell and children, who have been resorting at the McIntyre landing, motored to their home in East Rapids Monday. They were accompanied by Mr. Colburn Charlefour who will spend a few days in East Rapids previous to accepting a position in Jackson for the summer.

Word comes from Detroit announcing the marriage of Miss Josephine Wescott, who just closed her second term of teaching in the Grayling schools, to Mr. Charles Owens of this city. The latter is the son of George F. Owens. The wedding took place last Friday noon, Rev. H. L. Fitch of the Central Methodist church officiating. Congratulations and best wishes of their friends are extended for a long and happy wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan and family enjoyed having as their guests over Sunday, Mrs. Sullivan's parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trudeau of Onawa, her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Vincent of Atlanta, Mich., and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conlin of Brantford, Ontario. The party motored here, and Mr. and Mrs. Conlin remained until today, when they expect to leave for Port Huron on their return home to Brantford.

Clequot Club and Vernon's Ginger Ale.

Central Drug Store.

The Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator is the best refrigerator today. Read our advertisement, it gives you the reason why.

Sorenson Bros.

We are all "set" for the 4th

Special Bargains for the Holiday for those who intend to stay at home and enjoy a quiet 4th or for those who intend to celebrate.

Mens $6.50

Oxfords

now

$4.98

Mens $5.00

Oxfords

now

$3.98

Here is a genuine Bargain!

Ladies White Canvas

Pumps and Shoes, about 50 pairs in lot, worth $3 to

$5, to close at... $1.95

A splendid line of Ladies White Canvas Strap Pumps and Oxfords,

$2.50, $3 and Up

MEN---For Saturday and Monday only

Your chance to get a Suit for the Fourth at a Special discount of 25 per cent. DON'T PASS THIS UP! Remember—any suit at ¼ off.

Special values in Bathing Suits for all. — Also Ladies' bathing Shoes and Caps.

Mens Straws

$1.50 to $3.50

Cool Shirts for Men, $1.25 to $5

The Latest in

Caps and Ties

Final reductions in Ladies Coats and Suits—¼ off.

ALL LADIES HATS GREATLY REDUCED.

Grayling Mercantile Company

The Quality Store.

Sponges and chamols for your auto. Central Drug Store.

Mrs. Sidney J. Graham of Detroit is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Rasmus Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lewis and son Mark, and Dr. and Mrs. Keyport motored to Newberry Sunday to be the guests of Mrs. Lewis' mother for a few days.

Shoe sale starts today. Hurry, 3 days only.

E. J. Olson.

Miss Marjorie McCrae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern P. McCrae of Lovells and Mr. Jack Redhead, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Redhead, also of Lovells were united in marriage by Rev. C. E. Doty of the Michelson Memorial church at the parsonage in this city last Thursday afternoon.

The groom was born in Lovells and his parents have long been highly esteemed residents of this county. The parents of the bride are caretakers of the Kuchl Ranch near Lovells on the AuSable.

Otsego Lake had a couple of bad fire losses last week, one an $8000 fire, when about half of the ginseng farm of Milton A. Corey of that place and a garage and Oakland car and a portable mill and some other machinery was destroyed by fire. The fire was caused from the explosion of some dynamite caps. Also a cottage and contents at the lake was destroyed by fire, one day last week causing a $2,000 loss. The house had evidently been struck by lightning. In Gaylord the home of the Dominican Sisters suffered quite a bit of damage from fire.

You will want a crock of our choice dairy butter Saturday, 35c per pound. Salling Hanson Co.

Rev. Fr. A. O. Boster was in Graylord Tuesday of last week assisting at the Confirmation ceremonies at St. Mary's church.

THE 40th LEONARD YEAR

Why Leonard Leads

Leonard CLEANABLE Refrigerator

Recently a test was made to compare the cold-retaining power of various refrigerators. Under similar conditions as to location and icing, it was found that the air in the Leonard Cleanable was from six to eight degrees colder than the air in the others. The Leonard leads in economy as well as in efficiency.

One out of every seven refrigerators sold is made by Leonard.

We sell and recommend the Leonard. Call at our store and see this marvel of efficiency and economy. Why not today?

SORENSEN BROS.

The Home of Dependable Furniture.

Vulcanizing

We can repair your Cords

We Sell

Goodyear, Firestone and Oldfield

Tires

Hans R. Nelson

South Side.

Use the Delco System

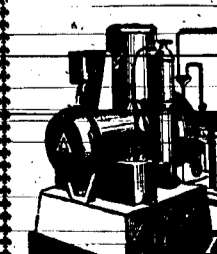

—for your lighting and power—

A size for every Home $250 and Up.

Geo. Burke, Agent, Grayling

DELCO-LIGHT COMPANY, DAYTON, O.

There's a Satisfied User near you

Michigan Happenings

Compassion towards ailing Henry Ames and Lloyd Wilford, Michigan men, said to have contracted typhoid fever as a result of drinking polluted water while working for the Lake Independence Lumber company at Big Bay last fall, were made by Deputy State Labor Commissioner Ray Derrham. The men were allowed compensation at $14 a week from the time they were taken ill to date.

David Friday was formally inaugurated as president of the Michigan Agricultural College at East Lansing, June 21, during the sixty-fourth commencement exercises of the state institution. The largest commencement crowd in the history of M. A. C. gathered for the joint ceremony, hundreds of alumni and guests of the college, in addition to the graduating class and faculty, being in attendance.

Because his revolver slipped from his holster, Jimmy Lee, paroled convict and a fugitive for several months, was taken without bloodshed when a posse of officers raided an alleged rendezvous of thieves and moonshiners near Ada, Kent county. Lee nearly made his escape, but stopped when he lost his gun and Deputy Sheriff Frank Linkfield emptied his revolver at him.

Dr. William H. Taylor, of Ludington, Mich., was elected state president of the fraternal order of Eagles in the closing session of the Michigan annual convention at Escanaba, W. P. Vaughn, of Boyne City, was chosen vice-president, Robert Graham, of Grand Rapids, secretary and John Richter, of Saginaw, treasurer. The 1923 convention will be held at Boyne City.

Rev. W. H. Holden, of Springfield, Ill., former head of the Illinois conference of Seventh Day Adventists, was elected president of the East Michigan conference during the business session held at Flint. R. M. Harrison, of Grand Rapids, was elected secretary and treasurer to succeed Miss Tillie Barr, who leaves as a missionary for China.

The new consolidated school district recently formed at Boyne City has elected the following officers: Herman C. Meyer, B. J. Grosbaskie, George Matulski, William Pettis and Frank L. Stewart, who will engage a superintendent of domestic science and four additional grade teachers. The district will receive $1,000 state aid.

Declaring that Flint justices of the peace are taking too many days off, including fishing and hunting trips, and other vacations, Mayor William H. McKeligan sent Justices Marshall Frisbie and Elwyn Tanner letters notifying them that, according to law, a justice is entitled to but 14 days' vacation in the year.

The state's right to collect a fee for approval by the Michigan public utilities commission of bond issues of railroad and utility companies is to be tested in court by the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Soo Railroad Co. The company paid under protest a fee of $26 for the approval of a $3,000,000 gold bond issue.

A homecoming celebration was held at Escanaba June 22 in observance of the fifteenth anniversary of the village church's dedication. The chief address was made by Dr. Hugh Kennedy, of Detroit, secretary to Bishop Theodore Henderson.

Helen, 14-year-old daughter of C. W. Melick, manager of D. A. Brown's stock farm, near Rochester, died of Hodgkins disease, a gland disease so rare that but 30 cases were reported in Michigan in 65 years. All were fatal.

Ephert Sovereign, a pioneer lumberman of Michigan and vice-president of the Aladdin company, of Bay City, died at his home there. He was 81 years old and leaves his widow and two sons.

Fred Alter, of Grosse Pointe, was arrested following the alleged seizure of five cases of beer in his automobile at Birmingham. He was taken to the Pontiac jail.

At a special meeting, electors of Marshall school district voted to issue $100,000 bonds to erect a new high school gymnasium and auditorium by 1926 to '28.

Sale of the Benton Harbor St. Joe Railway & Light Co. to the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. has been completed.

Henry Ward Beecher, 62 years old, head of a chain of motion picture houses at Grand Rapids, and a pioneer businessman, died of appendicitis. He was prominently known as the "newsboys' pal."

George Kaponis, arrested in Detroit on a charge of issuing bogus checks, waived an examination, in justice court at Ypsilanti, and was bound over to the circuit court. Bail was fixed at $1,000 which he was not able to give.

Members of the Kiwanis club have started a movement to secure the city manager commission form of government for Port Huron. In place of the commission form, under the new plan a city manager would be placed in charge of all city departments.

Oscar Sottogeron, arrested in connection with the slaying of Botofof Norberg on a farm near Marquette last February, was sentenced to life imprisonment at Marquette by Judge Louis Pearl at Sault Ste. Marie.

The last of the lumber towns of Clare county is doomed. The Pere Marquette started to tear up its tracks to Leelanau, famous in the lumber-patch days of 40 years ago. Millions of feet of logs have been floated down the Muskegon, past Leelanau, but only small timber has been marketed the last few years. Inasmuch as the trunk line through the town is also being abandoned, little remains to keep alive a semblance of the town that once thrived there.

A pat on the shoulder accompanied by a squashing of her hand by a married man caused Mrs. Emily Bowhall, 35 years old, of Pontiac such "great worry and mental suffering" that she is suing George Edgar Sherman, 65, a farmer, for $15,000 damages, according to the bill of complaint filed at Pontiac. Mrs. Bowhall charges that Sherman insisted on making love to her, although knowing that she was married.

Judge Theodore J. Richter, of the Wayne circuit bench, effected a reconciliation between Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Hoffman, wealthy Grosse Pointe residents, principals in a divorce case at Mt. Clemens. Hoffman brought the action against the wife, who is mother of 12 children. The two kissed and marched out of court hand in hand, with their 12 children following.

Chief Pippie, of the Grand Haven police and fire department, no longer has to dash away on his bicycle when answering a fire or burglar alarm. For several years the city has equipped the chief of the two departments with a bicycle and he has pumped his way to the scene of trouble. But now it is changed. A bright red automobile has been purchased for the chief.

Citing E. N. Diver, of Kalamazoo for meritorious service, the Michigan Central Railroad, for which he worked 40 years, has granted him a pension and a gold medal, entitling him to a life pass on the line. During his 40 years' service on the road, Diver, as baggage master, never met with an accident or was involved in a damage claim.

John C. McKay, Alpena, captain of the fishing tug Falcon, suffered a fracture of the right arm and nearly lost his life when he was carried overboard with the pilot house of his craft when it was struck by a tow line between the barge Helen C. and a tug. With his broken arm, McKay swam 50 feet, then found a life preserver, with which he kept afloat until rescued.

"We hope to be able to start work on the new Normal training school building this summer or early in the fall," President James M. B. Kaye, of the Marquette Normal school, declared. "At present plans are being modified so as to make the new school one of the finest of its kind anywhere," he said.

Fourteen pints of beer, recently confiscated by Prosecutor Lynn Johnston, from the Green Tree cafe, Macomb county, was ordered returned to the owners by Judge Harry J. Dingman, of Detroit, who held that the search warrant under which the raid was made was irregular and illegal.

Following an all-night search in which hundreds of Manicouba residents took part, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Cores was found asleep on a brush heap in the center of a thick woods four miles from his home. His body was covered with deep scratches and bruises.

The board of directors of the Eaton County Agricultural society have authorized a new floor hall at Charlette to cost $7,500. The new structure will be ready for the fair this fall. The society is one of the few prosperous county fairs, with a surplus of $10,000.

Muskegon has reduced the assessed valuation on residence property more than $1,500,000, while a similar increase has been made on factory property. The factory is not so largely the case in the new buildings erected. The total assessed valuation will be around $52,000,000.

Catherine, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Brices, of Kalamazoo township, died at Charlotte as the result of amputation of her left arm, made necessary after that member was crushed in a power wringer of a washing machine.

Entering the building through two glass doors in the floor, left after being repaired, thieves took 1,000 pounds of sugar from the store of Mike Dublin in the foreign settlement at Albion.

Four men loaded a 400-pound safe stolen from the Homer Grant store at Coloma, into an automobile and escaped. The safe contained $250.

The thirty-ninth annual assembly of the spiritualists of the United States and Canada will be held in Fraser's Grove, near Vicksburg, from July 30 to August 20.

A bumblebee which stung the nose of J. D. Cox of Detroit, as he was driving his automobile near Tecumseh, caused him to lose control of his car which swerved into the ditch and turned turtle. His wife and two sons were in the car. Mrs. Cox suffered a broken arm.

Four acres of land have been purchased by Weston, Mich., by the Page Dairy company of Toledo, O., and according to officials of that company, a milk station will be erected there. The location is in the center of Lena, was county's milk-producing territory.

Professor Jesse S. Reeves, head of the political science department of the University of Michigan, will take part in the institute of politics opening for a month's session at Wilmington, Mass., July 27.

BODY OF YOUNG RECTOR FOUND

DEATH OF DETROITER IN CHARGE OF ONTAGON CHURCH REMAINS MYSTERY.

MOONSHINERS MAY BE INVOLVED

Coroner's Jury at Eagle Harbor Does Not, However, Find Evidence of Foul Play.

Detroit—"The glorious Easter Day once more is near at hand. With its coming, victory over death once more is fully realized."

Thus George W. Jerome Dickinson, 20 years old, acting rector of the Episcopal Church in Ontagon, Mich., wrote to his family at 886 Atkinson avenue, on April 7. It was his last letter. Three days later he disappeared. On June 21 his body was found on Keweenaw Point, on the shore of Lake Superior.

Dickinson had intended to begin his studies for ordination next fall. He had been a student at Northern High School, leaving there about three years ago to study pharmacy at the Cass Technical High School. He completed his course there and was a registered pharmacist for a time in the employ of Grace Hospital.

He went to Ontagon last fall to complete his high school credits. When he arrived, he found that the church of the Ascension, the only Episcopal church in town, was without a rector. He offered to supply the pulpit and, after conducting several services, the congregation was so greatly impressed that they urged him to take charge of the parish.

He took a conspicuous part in the crusade against the liquor traffic. One of the first theories advanced to account for his disappearance was that he had been disposed of by moonshiners. This theory was discounted at the inquest, held in Eagle Harbor, where the coroner's jury found no evidence of foul play.

JURY ACQUITS GOVERNOR SMALL

Case of Illinois Executive Ends After Nine Week's Trial.

Waukegan, Ill.—The jury trying Governor Leas Small found him not guilty in a verdict returned June 21. The jury was out one hour and 35 minutes.

Cheers that shook the rafters of the ancient Lake county courthouse greeted the verdict. Friends by scores poured through the gates to the bar enclosure seeking to grasp the governor's hand.

Governor Small was indicted about a year ago on an embezzlement charge but this later was changed to a charge of conspiracy to defraud the state of interest money. The case went to trial nine weeks ago.

JURY BLAMES COAL OPERATORS

Verdict Declares Officials of Company Responsible for Massacre.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Responsibility for the murder of 19 non-union workers and two union miners resulting from the riots and massacre at a strip mine near here last week, was laid upon officials of the Southern Illinois Coal company, according to a verdict rendered by a coroner's jury here Sunday.

GOLD SITE DISCOVERY REPORTED

23-Foot Vein Uncovered in Hologden Mines, Report.

Sudbury, Ont.—It is reported that an important discovery has just been made in the West Whiting Tree gold area in the Hologden mines. A vein, which measures approximately 23 feet in width, has been uncovered on surface, the composition being well-mineralized blue quartz. Negotiations are now being made with a view to equipping the property with a mining plant and carrying out an extensive scheme of operation.

YOUTHS ON DRIVE TO ALASKA

Graduates of Allegan High School Build Car for Trip.

Allegan, Mich.—In an automobile built out of old parts, with a camping body, Glen Miller and Emil Schmidt, Jr., who graduated this month from the Allegan high school, have set out on a trip to Alaska.

24 Injured in Train Wreck.

Leadville, Colo.—Twenty-four persons were injured, four seriously, when the first section of Denver & Rio Grande Western passenger train No. 2, eastbound, was wrecked at Keelard, a small station 10 miles from Leadville. Spreading rails are believed to have caused the accident. Those who suffered sprains, cuts and bruises continued their journey. Three Pullman cars and the diner turned over while another Pullman jumped the track and turned partly over.

Ship Beef Hoofs to Japan.

Seattle, Wash.—Beef hoofs from which Japanese workmen manufacture articles for American women, are being shipped to the Orient. The hoofs will return to the United States as hair ornaments, bracelets, combs, millinery decorations, buckles, buttons and other things for the notions department. The horny hoofs are softened with acid until pliable, then pressed out flat. When dry again they are cleaned, scraped, split and out. Every particle of the material is used.

BRITISH MILITARY LEADER ASSASSINATED NEAR HOME

SIR HENRY HUGHES WILSON

London—Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, former chief of the British imperial general staff and late military adviser to the Ulster government, was assassinated June 22 near the door of his home in Eaton Place, London.

Two men fired upon the field marshal as he was alighting from an automobile after attending a war memorial unveiling where he delivered a speech. Struck by three bullets, he staggered and fell. He was carried into his home where he died before the arrival of physicians.

$5,000,000 ROAD AID AVAILABLE

Michigan Has Next Sum To Its Credit From Past Years.

Washington—In addition to the $1,499,688 Michigan will be entitled to draw in the coming fiscal year as federal aid for road building, it has a next sum to its credit from past years.

Figures secured from the bureau of public roads show that Michigan's entire appropriation of federal aid from 1917 up to the end of May 1922, was $10,210,878. Of this $6,805,228 was applied to roads completed or then under construction, leaving $3,405,650 still available for new construction.

The amount earned by the state in federal aid by completed road work at the end of last May was $4,562,942, and of this, $4,477,188 had actually been paid, the balance of federal aid earned and then due being $85,754. There thus would be available by the state in the way of federal contribution for road work more than $5,000,000.

START SURVEY OF STATE SOIL

University Experts Begin Inventory of Natural Resources.

Lansing—Officials in charge of the state soil survey, which is being undertaken by several state departments and educational institutions, left Lansing June 23 for Charlevoix, where the inventory of natural resources will start.

Prof. L. J. Young, of the University of Michigan, head of the survey for forestry division; Prof. L. R. Schoenmann, of Wisconsin University, directing the basic soils survey; and Dr. A. E. White, of the University of Michigan, chief of the industrial development and peat resources divisions, are in charge of the party that will camp this summer in the Grand Traverse district.

CANADA MAY TAX AMERICANS

Income Tax Proposal Submitted to the House of Commons.

Ottawa—Honorable W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, has introduced in the house of commons a bill amending the income tax act whereby Americans working in Canada and living in the United States must pay a tax of eight per cent on all earnings in excess of $1,000. No exemptions of any kind are allowed. This is the same tax as the United States government recently put into effect upon Canadians working in the United States and living in Canada.

The tax is to be levied on the basis of a proclamation, which means that all that is needed for its enforcement is the scratch of a pen by the governor-general.

President Outlines Subsidy Plans.

Washington—President Harding gave formal approval to plans of Republican leaders in the house to bring the administration ship subsidy bill to a vote at this session soon after the tariff bill has been sent to conference by the house. The president's position was stated in a letter to Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, the Republican leader, which embodied also detailed arguments advanced by Mr. Harding in favor of enactment of the measure at the present session.

Seek Gold in Congo Jungles.

New York—A golden quest—the search for a deep ravine in the jungles of Belgian Congo, where Julius Dolgors roll from his horse and scooped a handful of nuggets from a spring—has been started by a party of 19. Dolgors, chemical engineer, was with mounted troops in Africa during the war. In passing through the jungles of the Congo he said he fell with his horse into the ravine, dragged himself to a spring, drank, and discovered at the bottom a bed of nuggets.

Items Of Interest in World's News

Agree on 12,000 Army Officers.

Washington—House and senate conference on the army appropriation bill have agreed on a maximum of 12,000 officers as the permanent strength of the army for the next 12 months.

Fined for Mailing Obscene Literature.

Cincinnati, O.—John C. Kidd, head of a Cincinnati publishing house, was fined $1,000 by U. S. district judge J. W. Pack on the charge of sending improper literature in interstate commerce.

Punyfoot Shuns U. S. Ships.

New York—When William E. (Punyfoot) Johnson sailed for Liverpool to resume his prohibition drive overseas, it was on the British steamer Scotia. "I will not ride on American bootleg scows," he declared.

Woman, 85, Arrested As Bigamist.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Mrs. Alice Parker, who gave her age as 85, was arrested charged with bigamy. Philip Lee told the district attorney he was married to the defendant in 1918 and that he had learned she had married Nathan E. Parker in 1921.

Barking of Dog Saves Master.

Wilmington, Del.—The barking of a dog probably saved the life of Herbert Brown when the latter's bungalow, two miles below New Castle, caught fire. When Mr. Brown was awakened at 2 o'clock by his terrier the house was in flames. Brown had just time to escape.

Kills Raiders, Commits Suicide.

Albany, Ore.—David F. West, who shot and killed Sheriff Kendall and Rev. Roy Healy at his ranch home here, later shot and killed himself, after being barricaded in his home since shooting the officer and minister. The victims had raided the home in search of a moonshine still.

Detroit Masons Invite Harding.

Washington—President Harding has been invited by Senator Newberry, Republican, of Michigan, to attend the laying of the cornerstone of the "largest Masonic temple in the world" at Detroit some time in September. The president took the invitation under advisement.

Collects Fines on Installments.

Gloucester, N. J.—Mayor Anderson, acting in the capacity of magistrate, sees no reason why a public court should not extend credit like a department store and other institutions. So when two celebrators told him they had spent all their ready cash for liquor, he agreed to their request to extend credit on their fines of $75 each until "next pay day."

France Awarded $122,566.22 Damage

Trenton, N. J.—The verdict awarded to the Hudson county circuit court to the Republic of France against the Erie railroad was sustained by the court of errors and appeals. The amount of the verdict is $122,566.22, of which $22,918.81 is interest. The litigation grew out of the damage done to munition materials in the Erie's yard at the time of the Black Tom explosion July 30, 1916.

Exhumed Body for Analysis.

Washington, D. C.—The body of Mrs. Mary Walker Sargus, first wife of Dr. J. C. Sargus, now in jail here on a charge of murdering Mrs. Sargus and Charles J. Wilbank, was exhumed in the Sandy Cross church yard near Crawfordville, and Sheriff G. W. Walton and Dr. A. W. Simpson started immediately for Atlanta with the vital organs for examination by the state chemist for traces of poison.

Lodges Falls Into Coal Hopper

New York—Lodging his balance, Orlando Divorzo, 48 years old, of Long Island City, fell into a coal-hopper in the yards of the Casino Beach Gas company, Astoria, and was killed when 10 tons of coal fell on him. The Italian was placing the hoist in position to unload the coal into the hopper just as a load was let loose. It was several hours before his body was recovered.

Lords Pass Washington Pact.

London—The house of lords passed the second reading of the "treaties of Washington act of 1922," introduced by Lord Lee, of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty. This bill makes effective the two treaties signed in February at Washington, one for the limitation of naval armament, and the second for the protection of neutrals and non-combatants at sea, and to prevent the use of noxious gases and chemicals in war.

Bulldog Pleads Own Case.

Chicago—"Buster," a bulldog, described by Alexius Lampe as a "large, awe-inspiring, evil-looking beast," successfully pleaded his own case in municipal court. Lampe told how the dog attacked him and asked $1,000 damages. Then someone, whistled, "Buster" hopped off a chair, waddled to the witness box, sniffed Lampe's trousers, rubbed against the judge's leg, and then hopped back on his chair. In a few minutes came the verdict, "Discharged."

"Dizzy Blonde" Some Kisser.

Whitts Plains, N. Y.—Brandon Hendricks, of New York city, president of a taxi company, went to a house party some time ago and was met at the door by Jack Morrissey, who had news for him. There is a dizzy blonde here, and she's some kisser. "She's got you up there," Hendricks yelled, and the dizzy blonde came downstairs and found she was his wife. Morrissey told the remark meant nothing, but Hendricks felt that his home life was never the same after.

MARKET REPORT

FURNISHED BY U. S. BUREAU OF MARKETS, WASHINGTON, D. C.

(For the week ending June 22, 1923.)

Wheat—Receipts in excess of demand, especially low grades. Unsold cars of special standing. Demand for export wheat grades. Minneapolis reports receipts not enough arriving to establish a basis.

Quoted June 21 No. 1 Timothy, Boston $1.18; No. 2, $1.15; No. 3, $1.12; No. 4, $1.09; No. 5, $1.06; No. 6, $1.03; No. 7, $1.00; No. 8, $0.97; No. 9, $0.94; No. 10, $0.91; No. 11, $0.88; No. 12, $0.85; No. 13, $0.82; No. 14, $0.79; No. 15, $0.76; No. 16, $0.73; No. 17, $0.70; No. 18, $0.67; No. 19, $0.64; No. 20, $0.61; No. 21, $0.58; No. 22, $0.55; No. 23, $0.52; No. 24, $0.49; No. 25, $0.46; No. 26, $0.43; No. 27, $0.40; No. 28, $0.37; No. 29, $0.34; No. 30, $0.31; No. 31, $0.28; No. 32, $0.25; No. 33, $0.22; No. 34, $0.19; No. 35, $0.16; No. 36, $0.13; No. 37, $0.10; No. 38, $0.07; No. 39, $0.04; No. 40, $0.01.

Grain—Wheat feed market slightly improved and fairly steady. Corn, 2nd bed. Buying light and only for immediate needs. High protein feeds inactive with very light demand. Corn, 2nd bed.

Quoted June 21 soft winter bran Chicago $17.25; Philadelphia $22; standard middling $18.50; No. 1 $19.50; No. 2 $20.50; No. 3 $21.50; No. 4 $22.50; No. 5 $23.50; No. 6 $24.50; No. 7 $25.50; No. 8 $26.50; No. 9 $27.50; No. 10 $28.50; No. 11 $29.50; No. 12 $30.50; No. 13 $31.50; No. 14 $32.50; No. 15 $33.50; No. 16 $34.50; No. 17 $35.50; No. 18 $36.50; No. 19 $37.50; No. 20 $38.50; No. 21 $39.50; No. 22 $40.50; No. 23 $41.50; No. 24 $42.50; No. 25 $43.50; No. 26 $44.50; No. 27 $45.50; No. 28 $46.50; No. 29 $47.50; No. 30 $48.50; No. 31 $49.50; No. 32 $50.50; No. 33 $51.50; No. 34 $52.50; No. 35 $53.50; No. 36 $54.50; No. 37 $55.50; No. 38 $56.50; No. 39 $57.50; No. 40 $58.50; No. 41 $59.50; No. 42 $60.50; No. 43 $61.50; No. 44 $62.50; No. 45 $63.50; No. 46 $64.50; No. 47 $65.50; No. 48 $66.50; No. 49 $67.50; No. 50 $68.50; No. 51 $69.50; No. 52 $70.50; No. 53 $71.50; No. 54 $72.50; No. 55 $73.50; No. 56 $74.50; No. 57 $75.50; No. 58 $76.50; No. 59 $77.50; No. 60 $78.50; No. 61 $79.50; No. 62 $80.50; No. 63 $81.50; No. 64 $82.50; No. 65 $83.50; No. 66 $84.50; No. 67 $85.50; No. 68 $86.50; No. 69 $87.50; No. 70 $88.50; No. 71 $89.50; No. 72 $90.50; No. 73 $91.50; No. 74 $92.50; No. 75 $93.50; No. 76 $94.50; No. 77 $95.50; No. 78 $96.50; No. 79 $97.50; No. 80 $98.50; No. 81 $99.50; No. 82 $100.50; No. 83 $101.50; No. 84 $102.50; No. 85 $103.50; No. 86 $104.50; No. 87 $105.50; No. 88 $106.50; No. 89 $107.50; No. 90 $108.50; No. 91 $109.50; No. 92 $110.50; No. 93 $111.50; No. 94 $112.50; No. 95 $113.50; No. 96 $114.50; No. 97 $115.50; No. 98 $116.50; No. 99 $117.50; No. 100 $118.50; No. 101 $119.50; No. 102 $120.50; No. 103 $121.50; No. 104 $122.50; No. 105 $123.50; No. 106 $124.50; No. 107 $125.50; No. 108 $126.50; No. 109 $127.50; No. 110 $128.50; No. 111 $129.50; No. 112 $130.50; No. 113 $131.50; No. 114 $132.50; No. 115 $133.50; No. 116 $134.50; No. 117 $135.50; No. 118 $136.50; No. 119 $137.50; No. 120 $138.50; No. 121 $139.50; No. 122 $140.50; No. 123 $141.50; No. 124 $142.50; No. 125 $143.50; No. 126 $144.50; No. 127 $145.50; No. 128 $146.50; No. 129 $147.50; No. 130 $148.50; No. 131 $149.50; No. 132 $150.50; No. 133 $151.50; No. 134 $152.50; No. 135 $153.50; No. 136 $154.50; No. 137 $155.50; No. 138 $156.50; No. 139 $157.50; No. 140 $158.50; No. 141 $159.50; No. 142 $160.50; No. 143 $161.50; No. 144 $162.50; No. 145 $163.50; No. 146 $164.50; No. 147 $165.50; No. 148 $166.50; No. 149 $167.50; No. 150 $168.50; No. 151 $169.50; No. 152 $170.50; No. 153 $171.50; No. 154 $172.50; No. 155 $173.50; No. 156 $174.50; No. 157 $175.50; No. 158 $176.50; No. 159 $177.50; No. 160 $178.50; No. 161 $179.50; No. 162 $180.50; No. 163 $181.50; No. 164 $182.50; No. 165 $183.50; No. 166 $184.50; No. 167 $185.50; No. 168 $186.50; No. 169 $187.50; No. 170 $188.50; No. 171 $189.50; No. 172 $190.50; No. 173 $191.50; No. 174 $192.50; No. 175 $193.50; No. 176 $194.50; No. 177 $195.50; No. 178 $

CHILDREN NEED MUCH SLEEP

It has been shown to be unwholesome if children can have too much sleep, and up to twelve years of age, twelve hours' solid sleep is a proper allowance for them. During the sleep of childhood, all the adjustments and developments are going on which will gradually develop the child into the grown-up man or woman. Children's nights should last all around the clock, and should be absolutely quiet and free from all disturbances.

Thought for the Day

In celebrating Independence day, the anniversary of the great act of declaration, the American people have not always recalled in full the significance of the occasion. Sometimes they have remembered only the exaltation of the founders of the republic in their enthusiasm of proclamation. Sometimes again they have remembered the sacrifices that were required to make that declaration an accomplished fact.

Sometimes they have remembered the reactions that from time to time have followed from the high principles that were thus eloquently expressed. Now, in the light of the history of nearly a century and a half, and especially in the light of the events of the last five years, they should bear in mind the whole story of nation-making, with its setbacks and failures and triumphs.

---

Sometimes it is as hard to break into a conversation as it is to break off a monologue.

...strenuously	...bunally and che-
...Sov-	...Women who are
...a stop-	...outgrown such in-
...I're short-	...Confessions of a
...phone to	...an," by Stephen A
...the disen-
...s it not?	The Road
...their own,	"Dey ain' no c-
...ment; hav-	...en," said Charcon-
...essent an	...may look lak hit
...seem to	...round a heap, o'
...a invita-	...deacons alone stop
...and this	...ment Times. Dis-since."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

DOAN BROTHERS, MANUFACTURERS, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Big—CELEBRATION—at WEST BRANCH July 4th

Something Doing Every Minute

Horse Races.

Foot Races.

Boys' and Girls' Contests.

BASE BALL.

DANCING.

A Memorial celebration under the auspices of American Legion of Ogemaw County for the purpose of procuring a Memorial for the boys of our County who enlisted in the service of their Country during the WORLD WAR.

A Real Fast Ball Game

Grayling vs. West Branch

Come to West Branch and Enjoy the Day.

FARM BUREAU NOTES.

(Continued from first page.)

that with high class dairy type stock.

Don't Tell Me.

Don't tell me we can't raise the feed. Bunk! Don't! What we need is simply to go to putting up silos and raising alfalfa, both of which are easy.

Speaking of Silos.

Mr. Frank Love, of Beaver Creek, has a new silo. It is a two story silo. We suspect that there are two or three more new ones in the county. Let us hear from any farmer who has a new one. Let the good work go on.

New Barn.

Theodore Christofferson, over by Al. Failing's, is about to build a new barn. Good work! Those who have driven past this summer will remember that the Christoffersons had a lot of pine stumps pulled by Albert Moon's quick-acting, never-failing stump puller.

Yanked 'Em Out.

This same neighborhood has had Albert Moon stump two miles of road from Christofferson's to Mortenson's, from Benedict's to the Standard School.

Sure of It.

I feel sure that I am going to be able to report lots of improvements made, and good things done this summer. I am so sure of it that I am going to pay for a free copy of Hoard's Dairyman, or Country Gentleman, or Ladies' Home Journal for the family who make the most improvement in their premises this summer. This includes any and all kinds of improvement you wish—paint, buildings, trees, shrubs, lawns, fences, cleaning up, or anything that improves the appearance of the farm home.

Sure to Have Headache.

I know that I am all set for a headache from I make a decision in this flood of improvement.

Jens Hanson has painted already. Frank Love will have the new barn. Theo. Christofferson, his new silo, and the stumps out.

Will Feldhauser has Delco lights. One family has promised to put the barn yard out of sight of the road and the house.

Others are going to clean up. I sure have stirred up something, but I will give the prize, perhaps first and second prize, "sure as shootin'."

Aw, Come! Help a Feller!

We all wish to make an ample and dignified showing at the State Fair, and other fairs, if the Board of Supervisors sends us.

I can't do it alone, and I know that you all will gladly lend a hand, in showing what our county can do.

Knocked Their Eye Out.

Last year, people at the State Fair could hardly believe that the many good things we showed were grown by us.

As last year, your name will be on everything you contribute.

Doll Up.

So, doll up the farm, and we will take a most large picture of the place, and show at the Fair, with your name on it in large letters. We did last year, you know.

Please.

Please, please, begin right off to save carefully little bundles, four inches through, of your tall timothy, clover, alfalfa, sweet clover, rye, oats, wheat. Select them carefully. Hang them, heads down, in a cool, dark place. Be on the lookout for any choice agricultural products and save it for us. Please do. Sit up nights to nurse a nice piece of corn along until it is about eleven or twelve feet high.

Waking Up.

Things are surely waking up in this county. None know better than I of the hundreds of pounds of choicest alfalfa seed used; of the four thousand pounds of soy beans; of the high class clover, and scarified sweet clover, and the resolve by so many to treat the soil better. Think of the good stock brought in; farm buildings improved; roads built; lime used. All steps in the right direction.

This good, wet spring is giving us splendid seedlings. We've got things going, brother let's keep 'em going.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

The Circuit Court for the County of Crawford in Chancery.

Ethel Davis, Plaintiff.

John R. Davis, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for Crawford County, in Chancery, on the tenth day of June, A. D. 1922, at the Village of Grayling, in said County of Crawford.

It satisfactorily appearing to the court by affidavit on file that a chancery summons has been duly issued out of and under the seal of said court, for the appearance of said defendant therein, and that the same could not be served on the defendant because after diligent search and inquiry it could not be ascertained in what state or country the said defendant resides, or the whereabouts of said defendant learned, and that the said chancery summons has been returned by the sheriff of Gogebic County, State of Michigan, the last known place of residence of the defendant, with his certificate thereon endorsed that after diligent search and inquiry he was unable to find the said defendant within his bailiwick on or before the return day of said summons, on motion of H. L. Fitch, attorney for said plaintiff, IT IS ORDERED, that the said defendant, John R. Davis, cause his appearance to be entered in this cause, within three months after the date of this order, and in case of his appearance that he cause his answer to the plaintiff's bill of complaint to be filed and a copy thereof served on plaintiff's attorney, within 15 days after service on him of a copy of said bill and notice of this order, and that in default thereof said bill be taken as confessed by said defendant.

And on like motion, IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that within 15 days after the date hereof, the plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Crawford Avalanche, a newspaper, printed, published, and circulating in said County of Crawford, and that such publication be continued at least once in each week, for six weeks in succession, or that she cause a copy of this order to be personally served upon said defendant, at least 15 days before the time above prescribed for his appearance.

And on like motion, IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that the said plaintiff cause a copy of the said bill to be mailed to said defendant, at his last known postoffice address, by registered mail, and a return receipt be mandated at least 30 days before the date herein prescribed for his appearance.

GUY E. SMITH, Circuit Judge.

HOMER L. FITCH, Attorney for Plaintiff.

Business Address: Grayling, Mich.

STATE POLICE ARE SELF SUPPORTING REPORT SHOWS

TOTAL OF FINES, FEES AND RECOVERED GOODS GREATER THAN FORCE'S EXPENSE.

REPORT FOR SEVEN MONTHS

During the seven months from July 1, 1921 to January 31, 1922, the Department of Public Safety, which includes the Michigan State Police, brought into the treasury of the State of Michigan a very large revenue, this money thus raised through the activities of the department equalling a very large proportion of the salaries and expenses paid to its officials and employees.

If the recoveries of stolen automobiles and stolen goods be added, the Department of Public Safety more than returned the expenditures of the state for its maintenance.

The total appropriation for the Department for the year is $350,000. In seven months the department turned in to the treasury $75,387.90 from oil inspection fees, $7,140 from other inspection fees and $547 from permit fees. In addition there was turned in from the sales of materials and confiscated liquors the sum of $5,115.74. This makes a total of $88,150.64 in cash turned into the state treasury.

In addition the department recovered and returned to owners automobiles valued at $57,000 and other stolen goods valued at $47,000—a total of $104,000. Fines in criminal cases resulting from the work of the state police amounted to $15,705.70 and costs in these cases were $2,538.91.

Add all of these items together brings a total of $212,413.25, which more than offsets the appropriation for the seven months.

During this time the state police made 1,673 investigations, gave assistance to local officers in 983 cases, gave assistance to the public in 873 cases, gave assistance in 347 automobile accidents, extinguished 34 fires, gave first aid in 11 cases, seized 102 pieces of gambling apparatus and 28,952 gallons of liquor and mash and performed services in behalf of practically all state institutions.

During February the Department of Public Safety turned over $6,734 in inspection fees. Fines in connection with the 131 arrests made by the state police amounted to $4,905 and costs to $473. Liquor totalling 4,848 gallons was confiscated. There were 932 cases of assistance rendered to officials and to the public.

STATE POLICE GUARD UNCLE SAM'S MONEY

Owing to the great amount of money coming into the internal revenue office in Detroit during the middle of March, Collector Fred L. Woodworth asked Colonel Roy C. Vanderhoek, commissioner of the Department of Public Safety, for an armed guard to protect the office. His request was granted and men from the Michigan State Police safeguarded the receipts during the rush days. Many millions of dollars a day come into the internal revenue office at this time and while most of this is the form of checks, a fortune in currency also is taken in. This made the precaution advisable.

Before asking for the state police guard, Collector Woodworth had asked the war department to furnish a squad of soldiers from Fort Wayne but the army officials did not think his good policy.

State police have guarded the Detroit federal building at other times, notably during the trials of German spies and during roundups of foreign radicals.

ARSONIST ARRESTED IN CASE TWO YEARS OLD

Francis J. Miller, dealer in second-hand automobiles at Jackson, was recently arrested by state police on a charge of being implicated in the burning of the race track grandstand at Jackson two years ago. Automobiles belonging to Miller were stored in the building. Patient following up of the case by the state police resulted in accumulating evidence sufficient to bring the case to court.

Several other mysterious arson cases have recently been solved in like manner by state police effort and patience. During the slump in trade there was a temptation to realize on goods through fire insurance rather than merchandising. Ultimately the cost of such crimes fell on the people of the whole state through increased cost of fire insurance premiums.

TROOPER ON HANDCAR CAPTURES FUGITIVE

Convict J. Gentry, an inmate of Marquette prison but employed on work outside the walls of the institution, took advantage of the trust placed in him to escape. Immediately the force of state police which has been stationed at the prison set out in pursuit. Trooper Bowen used a handcar on the railroad as a means of following Gentry and captured the escaped convict before the latter had got ten miles away.

WHY SUFFER FROM RHEUMATISM?

Do you know that nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment? The pain may be relieved by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, which makes sleep and rest possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Regular meeting of the common council of the Village of Grayling, convened at the Court House Monday evening June 26th, 1922.

Meeting called to order by President C. A. Canfield. Roll call of trustees: present, M. A. Atkinson, A. L. Roberts, Frank Sales, Eva R. Reagan, H. E. Simpson; absent, W. C. Burton.

Minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

Motion of the last meeting read and approved.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated the 15th day of August, A. D. 1920, executed by Floyd Denoyes, and Mahle Denoyes, his wife, of the Village of Grayling, County of Crawford, State of Michigan, to Anthony Trudeau, Sr., of the same place, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the County of Crawford and State of Michigan in Liber 1 of Mortgages on pages 275 and 277 on the 17th day of August, A. D. 1920 at one o'clock p. m.

And whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of three hundred ninety one and 84-100 ($391.84) dollars of principal and interest, and the further sum of thirty ($30.00) dollars as an attorney fee stipulated for in said mortgage, and which is the whole amount claimed to be unpaid on said mortgage and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the Village of Grayling, in said County of Crawford, on the 3rd day of August, A. D. 1922, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, which said premises are described as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate and being in the Village of Grayling, County of Crawford, and State of Michigan, described as Lot Nine, of Block Thirteen, of Hadley's Second Addition to the Village of Grayling, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Dated May 3rd, 1922.

Anthony Trudeau, Mortgagee.

Homer L. Fitch, Attorney for Mortgagee.

Business Address: Grayling, Mich.

5-4-13.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas, default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, dated the 5th day of March, 1906, executed by Fred Sholtz and Belle Sholtz, his wife, to Eliza J. Brett, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Crawford County, Michigan, in Liber B of mortgages on page 516, on March 5, 1906, and which said mortgage was assigned by Eliza J. Brett, to William H. Wallace, on February 21, 1910 and which assignment is recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Crawford County, Michigan, in Liber G of mortgages on page 683, on March 28, 1910.

And whereas, the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is $197.92 principal and interest and the further sum of $25.00 attorney fee as provided for in said mortgage and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale and in pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House in the Village of Grayling, Crawford County, Michigan, on the 25th day of June, 1922, at one o'clock in the afternoon, which premises are described as follows:

The east half of the southeast quarter of section twenty, in township twenty-five, north range three west, excepting one acre off the southeast corner used for school purposes, Beaver Creek Township, Crawford County, Michigan.

Dated April 25, 1922.

William H. Wallace, Assignee of Mortgage.

Merle F. Nellist, Attorney for Assignee of Mortgage.

Business address, Mio, Michigan.

4-27-13

RECOMMENDS CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have been used by my husband and myself off and on for the past five years. When my husband goes away from home he always takes a bottle of them along with him. Whenever I have that heavy feeling after eating, or feel dull and played out, I take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets and they fix me up fine," writes Mrs. Newton Vreeland, Minn. N. F. "Take these tablets when troubled with constipation or indigestion and they will do you good."

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

Every family should keep this preparation at hand during the hot of the summer months. It is almost sure to be needed, and when that time comes, is worth many times its cost. Buy it now.

DIRECTORY

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL

PROBATE COURT

Crawford County, Mich. Sessions—First and Third Monday of every month. Hours—9 o'clock a. m. to 12 noon. 1 o'clock p. m. to 5 o'clock p. m. Any information and first Proceeding in connection with this Court will be had at my office at Sorenson Bros. GEORGE SORENSON, Judge of Probate.

BANK OF GRAYLING

Successor to Crawford County Exchange Bank. MARIUS HANSON, Proprietor.

Interest paid on certificates of deposit. Collections promptly attended to. All accommodations extended that are consistent with safe and conservative banking. Marius Hanson, Cashier.

O. PALMER

Office in Avalanche Building.

Dr. Keyport & Howell

PHYSICIANS & SURGEONS. Office next to Peterson's Jewelry Store.

Special attention to Eye refraction. Office Hours—2-4, 7-8 p. m. Sundays by appointments.

C. A. Canfield, D. D. S.

DENTIST. over Alexander's Law Office on Michigan Avenue.

Office hours: 8:30 a. m. 1-3:30 p. m.

Dr. J. J. Love

DENTIST. Phone 1271.

Hours: 9 to 11:30 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. Office: Over Simpson Co.'s grocery.

C. J. HATHAWAY

OPTOMETRIST. Suite 223-224, American Bank Bldg. Pontiac, Mich.

Office hours: 8:30 to 12:00; 1 to 5 p. m.; and by appointment. Phone 267.

Practice confined exclusively to refraction of the eye.

HOMER L. FITCH

Prosecuting Attorney. Crawford County General Practice.

Surety Bonds. Insurance.

KELSDEN & KELSDEN

Mondays and Wednesdays from 2-30 to 3:00 o'clock p. m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Friday all day. Over Salling Hanson Co.

Hardware Store.

Licensed Chiropractors. Examination and Consultation Free.

Hendrickson Bros.

Men's Fine Tailoring. Suits and Overcoats to Order.

Phone 614. Open 8:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m.

SOUTH SIDE.

TUTTLE'S SWEDISH

BATH HOUSE

425 North Main Street. Electric Light and Gas Heated. Sweet Baths, Electric and Swedish Massage, Salt Rubs, Gymnastics and Galvanic Baths.

Treatments for Nervousness, Stiff Joints, Lumbago, Pleurisy, Sciatica and Inflammation of Rheumatism. For Ladies and Gentlemen. Treatments $2.00 Each.

CHEBOYGAN, MICH.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh of the bladder cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

Sworn to before me this 6th day of December, 1921.

(Seal) Notary Public. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Send for testimonials, free.

J. C. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists.

Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

AN IRRITABLE, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach troubles by Chamberlain's Tablets after years of suffering. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Try them. They only cost a quarter.

Chamberlain's Tablets

HERE'S a car that makes a friend of you, from the first moment you see it. Eager, willing, on the job, sparing you tire and gas money, considerate of your comfort.

Today's Overland $550

M. A. ATKINSON, Dealer GRAYLING, MICHIGAN

TOLEDO, OHIO. TOURING... $550. ROADSTER... $550. COUPE... $550. SEDAN... $550.